

Sgt. Ruebhausen to receive regional Medal of Valor

SGT. DAVE RUEBHAUSEN

Granite City Police Sgt. David Ruebhausen has been selected as one of only three police officers in the St. Louis metropolitan area to be selected by the Medal of Valor Judges Committee to receive the Medal of Valor of the St. Louis Crusade Against Crime and the St. Louis Advertising Club.

Sgt. Ruebhausen and St. Louis Metropolitan Police officers Sgt. Raymond Reynolds and Patrolman Kevin Burdick will receive the medals during a noon luncheon Tuesday, Nov. 27, at the St. Louis Marriott Pavilion Hotel.

PRESENTING the awards will be Edwin Meese III, President Ronald Reagan's chief policy advisor who has responsibility for administration of the Cabinet as well as policy development, planning and evaluation. Meese is a member of the Cabinet and the National Security Council and has been nominated by the president as a candidate for attorney general of the United States.

Ruebhausen is to be honored for his part in stopping a hostage situation within St. Elizabeth Medical Center Aug. 19, 1983. A woman with a mental problem took two nurses and a patient hostage at gunpoint, ripped apart a nurse's station and threatened to kill anyone who approached.

Ruebhausen and other officers cleared the area of unnecessary persons, confronted the woman and talked her into releasing two of the hostages. She cocked and leveled the gun at him, threatening him, but he continued talking with her while Patrolman Walter Milton approached her from the back.

WHEN THE WOMAN uncocked the gun, held it to her head and turned to reach for a cigarette, Sgt. Ruebhausen ran at her, keeping her attention. She aimed the gun at him, began to cock it and Ruebhausen grabbed the gun just as Patrolman Milton leaped over a desk and helped subdue her. There were no shots fired and no one was injured.

Both Ruebhausen and Milton, as well as all officers who participated in the successful rescue, were commended by the police department for their professional handling of the situation and for refraining from shooting the woman, even though they had several opportunities.

In recommending Sgt. Ruebhausen for the Medal of Valor, Lt. Col. Robert Astorian wrote, "As I was present at the scene during this hostage crisis, I can grasp the gravity of the situation, knowing the danger involved and the atmosphere it took place in. I truly feel that the actions taken by Sgt. Ruebhausen were above and beyond the moral scope of duties, a true act of valor."

SGT. RUEBHAUSEN and his immediate family have been invited to be guests at the luncheon and additional city officials are being invited to make reservations, according to Nancy Hargrove, chairman of the Medal of Valor Committee.

"Your valiant actions in a crisis situation and your professionalism are a credit to your department and to the law-enforcement community," she said in her invitation to Sgt. Ruebhausen.

Motorist dies on icy highway

Sheet showers and a light snowfall early Sunday morning apparently contributed to driving conditions in which Conrad G. Williams, 61, of Florissant, Mo., was fatally injured at 2:25 a.m. Sunday on State Aid Route 35, about one and one-tenth mile east of Illinois Route 111.

Mr. Williams was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner of Granite City at 3:05 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 18, 1984.

ACCORDING to the Illinois State Police, Mr. Williams apparently lost control of his westbound auto on the road's slippery surface, causing the car to slide sideways into the east-bound lane, where it was struck broadside by a pickup truck.

The eastbound pickup was operated by Patrick O. Dillon, 43, of Collinsville, who sustained minor injuries in the crash, but did not require any immediate medical attention, a police spokesman advised.

Dillon was taken into custody and agreed to take a breathalyzer test. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, according to ISP reports.

FUNERAL services for Mr. Williams are scheduled at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21, at Buckholz Mortuary, 619 St. Francis St., Florissant, Mo., where visitation begins at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in the National Cemetery at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Scales tip in Barton's favor—Smith

By JIM WOODCOCK

Supervisor of Assessments James Barton will almost certainly avoid the various criminal charges he faces once the Dick Allen administration takes over the state's attorney's office, Madison County assistant state's attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith thinks.

"Nobody's going to put Barton in jail now," Smith told a reporter. "What might as well be done now, to save expenses, is most Barton in to court tomorrow morning and drop everything."

SMITH SAID he fully expects to be replaced shortly after Allen, the state's attorney-elect, takes office Dec. 3.

Smith said his stay with the county was enjoyable and he will have some regrets if he is replaced. However, Smith said he doesn't want to be associated with the state's attorney's staff if Barton dodges the charges against him.

"In the end, that's what will happen," Smith said. "In a way, the people who voted for Allen were saying they wanted him (Barton) to be let go."

SMITH SERVED as the county board's legal counsel during his four years on State's Attorney Don Weber's staff. Smith, a Republican, has been popular with the predominantly Democratic county board.

But Smith was soured by the fact that in October the county board failed to produce the amount of votes needed to fire Barton, who faces 14 criminal charges related to the supervisor of assessments office.

Barton and three others were indicted by a grand jury Sept. 21 for allegedly lowering assessments in exchange for contributions to a legal defense fund for Barton that was established for an unrelated charge.

NOW THAT Weber has been ousted by Allen, Smith said the state's attorney's office probably will be very lax in pursuing the Barton matter.

"I don't want to be any part of that, to be on the staff when Barton

Fairmount Park appeals ruling

By ED GURNEY

The owners of Fairmount Park Racetrack have asked the Madison County Circuit Court to overturn a decision of the Illinois Racing Board to fine the track $105,000 and make it repay $2.1 million to the state improvement fund.

The request for an administrative review was filed Friday by William Lucco of Edwardsville.

LUCO ALSO asked the court to stay payments pending the appeal. Today had been set by the racing board as the deadline for paying the money.

In a related development, U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess has said he could find no violations of federal law in connection with the investigation of bidding irregularities at the racetrack.

The racing board last week ruled that Fairmount submitted false bids with applications for reimbursement on 19 construction projects between 1980 and this year. However, there was no evidence presented at the racing board's hearing that there were any kickbacks or that the projects completed at Fairmount were not worth what they cost.

THE COMPLAINT filed by Lucco in behalf of Ogden-Fairmount Inc. contends the rule used by the racing board in making its decision was invalid. The complaint also argues that the decision by the board to order reimbursement and fine the track exceeds the board's discretion.

Hess said representatives of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation first came to his office in August in connection with the bidding investigation.

One of his lawyers monitored the Police debate squad car qualities

By SUSAN SIGNAGO-WEICH of the Press-Record

(Editor's note: During the past month, the Granite City Council and the city's police committee have disagreed more than once about which car is best suited for police work—the Dodge Diplomat or the Chevrolet Impala. In an effort to try to sort out the facts, the Press-Record sent a reporter to the Granite City Police Department Tuesday afternoon. The following story is a result of interviews with several officers, a maintenance records check and a "test ride" in each of the vehicles, as well as an interview with a representative of Granite Chrysler-Plymouth.)

Granite City police officials have admitted that they purposely set up specifications for the police car bidding that would exclude the Dodge Diplomat car. Their reasoning for the exclusion is due to the preference of the patrolmen.

"My men prefer the bigger car. They prefer the Chevrolet," said Police Chief Ronald Veizer. "Our motives were entirely selfish," he admitted.

VEIZER, HOWEVER, does not admit to setting up the specifications so that only Chevrolet dealers could bid on the cars. He said the 114-inch wheelbase called for in the bidding specifications could be met by local Ford and Oldsmobile dealerships.

The police chief cited several documents which support his reasoning for not wishing to receive a bid from a Dodge dealer. One of the documents is a letter that was signed by all of the city police officers and sent to the city council.

In the letter, officers say the feature they consider to be the

Woman driver hits house, DUI cited

Christine A. Narvaez, 31, of 1519 Market St., Madison, was injured at 1:06 a.m. Sunday when the 1975 auto she was driving crossed Madison Avenue and allegedly struck a parked car and the dwelling of Lester White, 709 Madison Ave., Madison. Property damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

According to Madison police, Mrs. Narvaez's auto was swerving on Madison Avenue when it swerved and she lost control of the vehicle, which went across the thoroughfare, struck a parked auto, a cyclone fence and the front of the White home. The parked car also belong to White.

Mrs. Narvaez said a truck in an adjacent lane caused her to swerve the auto. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by the Madison ambulance service and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving too fast for conditions.

Venice man getting into car is wounded

Jesse Terrell, 635 Lincoln Ave., Venice, suffered a gunshot wound to the top of his right leg at 1:06 a.m. Sunday while getting into his auto at Weaver and Jackson streets, Venice.

Terrell, who was interviewed by Venice police in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said he heard the sound of a gunshot and felt pain in the right leg. He reported driving to a nearby tavern to get his brother, who accompanied him to the medical center.

DREW KARANDJEFF

Q. I've noted quite a lot of financial institutions and services besides banks offer Individual Retirement Accounts. Is there any information as to which type of institution does the most IRA business?

A. Yes, there are several survey reports which rank different aspects of financial transactions, including Individual Retirement Accounts. The latest reports indicate the largest share of IRA accounts are placed with banks. The reason is due to several factors. First and foremost is that IRAs, opened at banks, are insured by the Federal government for up to $100,000. This additional margin of safety for an investment is very important to most IRA customers. Second, of course is the fact that banks are convenient. And, last, but by no means least, the popularity of banks for Individual Retirement Accounts is probably due to the growing number of options offered for investment. These include fixed and floating rate certificates of deposit, short and long term C.D.s, and many others. Your banker can give you all the information on IRA services offered.

Cruse supports purchase of the Lakeside Airport

Responding to last week's Press-Record editorial suggesting that Granite City investigate purchasing and operating the Lakeside Airport on Route 111, rather than allowing Collinsville to buy it, Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township supervisor and a candidate for mayor, issued a statement during the weekend that he has been working on such a proposal.

Cruse said that during the past year he has been working "with an informal committee of aviation enthusiasts to develop an up-to-date proposal for local acquisition and development of Lakeside Airport."

U.S. Senator-elect Paul Simon has been providing research and guidance to Cruse in this committee, made up of Paul Mihalich, 3410 Terrace Lane, and Darrell Downing, 1530 Cottage Ave. Both Mihalich and Downing are pilots.

Cruse said preliminary talks have been conducted with engineers and attorneys of the Tri-City Regional Port District about seeking grants for buying and improving the airport.

"The port authority is legally empowered to do anything necessary for the acquisition, development and operation of the airport and certainly ought to be considered as an eligible agency for such an undertaking. It was created with the objective of promoting the advantages of the area in connection with industrial and economic development. It has become increasingly obvious that outstanding highway access, an abundance of land and our ideal location are some of the advantages offered by Lakeside," Cruse said.

Mihalich and Downing noted that the Granite City Center of Belleville

Area College has become an aviation training site for the region, but the flying and aircraft involved currently are at Parks Bi-State Airport in Cahokia. Some of these operations could be moved to Lakeside, if it is developed, they said. In addition to providing private aviation, the airport could provide aviation service for St. Elizabeth Medical Center and Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

"The increase in construction jobs involved in the development of the airport is obvious, but there also would be a substantial increase in service, sales and other types of employment as the airport continued to develop," Mihalich and Downing said.

Cruse pledged to continue "an aggressive policy of annexation to Granite City" and an aggressive policy of economic development by all means practical" if elected mayor.

Squad cars

Under the warranty, the cost of the parts for power train items are covered for the first 12 months or 50,000 miles. The labor on the repairs is to be paid by the city.

RAINS SAID THAT, although these repairs were made, the new rear end was installed only because it was making a noise.

Of the six 1982 Chevrolet cars, only one of them has had to have a power train component replaced to date. That repair occurred on just recently to car 6, which had its transmission replaced after 103,661 miles. The average amount of miles on the Chevrolets is 100,536.

"WE'RE TICKLED to death with the Chevrolets," said Lt. Pinkerton. "They are darn good cars."

According to Pinkerton, another asset of the Chevrolets has been the longevity of their brake shoes. "All the other cars have to get their brakes replaced at 6,000 miles, but the Chevrolets' last for 16,000 miles," he contended.

A feature that has been brought up, but which has not been proved to be significant in weighing the differences, is the gas mileage each car gets. In a month-long study done at the Granite City Police Department, the Diplomat got 8.22 miles per gallon and the Chevrolet got 8.78 miles per gallon.

LT. PINKERTON said that all the study proved was that both cars get "about the same" gas mileage. "There's not a significant difference there," he said.

A final point of comparison between the two cars has been the service the policemen have received when taking the cars for their daily maintenance checks at the two car dealers. One police officer claimed that he had waited as long as 15 minutes to have a city police car serviced at Granite-Chrysler. He said he did not feel the city was getting a priority service at the dealer.

Rains disagreed with the statement saying, "A 15-minute wait may occur occasionally, but that is the exception to the situation rather than the expected."

WHETHER OR NOT the city council is taking these differences into consideration seems to be the greatest concern by the policemen. Whether or not the aldermen will weigh these differences remains to be decided.

The deadline for the new bids on the police cars is Nov. 27. Council members should vote on awarding the contract at their Dec. 4 meeting.

gets nothing," Smith said. Smith said he saw events sway in Barton's favor even before Allen was elected. In late October, Barton survived an attempt for his ouster when a lawsuit against him was dismissed by an associate judge.

SMITH SAID the latest indication that Barton may go unscathed occurred Wednesday, when county judges decided not to allow special prosecutor Bruce Locher to present new evidence to a grand jury.

(However, an "outside" judge, Dennis Cashman, issued an order Friday reconvening the grand jury.) All I'll say is we have 18 Democratic judges in this county out of 18 judges," Smith said. "All the judges were probably agreed on this right from the start."

Smith said a top source informed him of two candidates that are in line to replace him, but he didn't want to mention their names at this time.

"I'LL HANG around long enough to provide a smooth transition. I don't think I'll be hard to replace," Smith said. "I need a good need someone who knows the real background in government law that can ride with a punch."

"When I took the job four years ago, it was mostly just a deal of helping out Weber, but a lot more than that has happened since. I've found that most of the people in the county offices and county board are first-class people. But that's most of these guys."

Benefit dance Wednesday

The fifth annual benefit concert and dance for the American Cancer Society will be Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 21, at St. Clair Bowling Alley, 5950 Old Collinsville Road, Belleville.

This year's performers will be Steve Scorfina and Zigfried Carver from "Pavlov's Dog," Mark Boatman from "Head East" and formerly of Collinsville, John Kennedy doing an acoustic concert. Also the reunion of Club Indigo's Band, featuring Brad Florek, Rocky Bennett, Larry McHenry, Rick Mueller and Denny Reynolds.

The dance bands will be "Rio," formerly "NRG," plus, in the under 21 room, "The Newsboys" and "The Avengers."

probe and at its conclusion in October it was decided no federal charges were warranted, Hess said.

IT IS UNCERTAIN whether the Madison County state's attorney's office will file state charges. Hayden Construction Co. of Belleville performed the work on 17 of the 19 projects under investigation. A related story appears elsewhere in today's Press-Record.

"I think I'll be completely vindicated of any wrongdoing," owner Jim Hayden told a reporter in a telephone interview Friday. "I think I already have been."

Fairmount Park fined, ordered to repay funds

By ED GURNEY

An attorney for Ogden Leisure, the owner of Fairmount Park Racetrack, has said he will appeal the Illinois Racing Board's decisions last week to fine Ogden $105,000 and make the company pay back $2.1 million obtained from the track improvement fund.

The racing board set a deadline of today for the payments and denied a request from Ogden's attorney, Sam Skinner, to stay the penalties pending a court appeal.

THE ACTIONS were taken because of false bids on projects for which the improvement fund is used. The board ruled that Fairmount had submitted a total of 53 false bids with applications for reimbursement on 19 construction projects between July 1980 and May of this year.

The board later approved 250 racing dates for Fairmount in 1985. The board had delayed approval of the dates twice during the past two months until Ogden completed an internal audit.

Meanwhile, Leonard Beckica of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation said results of his agency's investigation will soon be turned over to the U.S. attorney's office. The DCI began an investigation in June after learning of allegations about the bidding.

THE BOARD'S meeting last week in Chicago was held solely to deal with the allegedly phony bids and Fairmount's request for racing dates.

The six board members voted unanimously to reverse previous actions granting a total of $2,101,570 to Fairmount from the state race track improvement fund. Money in that fund comes from revenue from every race track in Illinois.

Fairmount allegedly supplied falsified bids to comply with a board guideline that three competitive bids be submitted with each application. Hayden Construction of Belleville performed the work on 17 projects, according to the racing board.

R. DRON ELECTRIC received a $36,670 contract on another project, the installation of fire alarms. Alleged phony bids from two other firms were also submitted to the racing board when reimbursement was sought.

The board had not acted on the 19th application, which sought $21,000 for work by Southwestern Electric to install hand dryers. False bids from two Granite City firms were allegedly submitted with an application for reimbursement on the same project.

There was no evidence presented at the hearing that there were any kickbacks or that the projects completed at Fairmount were not worth what they cost.

JEWEL KLEIN, attorney for the racing board, said evidence indicated former Fairmount general manager Robert "Buster" Graham found a contractor (Hayden) whose work he liked, and wanted to hire him for additional jobs. Graham's successors, Roger Smith and Jack Weaver, continued the procedure, Klein said.

"Here we have a case where it was easier to lie to the racing board than to tell the truth," she said. She called Fairmount's actions "an affront to the racing board."

Skinner said Ogden, as a major corporation, "is not without its problems." In this case, well-meaning employees found an excellent contractor and used a procedure not condoned by Ogden officials for what the employees thought was a good purpose, Skinner said.

HE SAID there was no evidence the procedure was approved above the local level, and no evidence that employees received personal benefits as a result of the contracts going to Hayden. There was evidence that fair value had been received for the dollars spent, Skinner said.

Skinner said the track has lost a total of $200,000 over the past four years. Nevertheless, Ogden has invested several hundred thousand dollars, in addition to the amount received from the state fund, to make improvements at Fairmount, he said.

Skinner said the so-called three-bid rule was not binding. The board has allowed reimbursement for other projects with fewer than three bids, he said.

ACTING BOARD chairman Farrel "Tex" Griffin said the thrust of the racing board's petition against Ogden-Fairmount was that bids were falsified.

He agreed other projects have been given reimbursement with fewer than three bids, but said in those cases justification was presented. For example, the board allowed a firm to construct a second building for the same price it constructed an identical first building, Griffin said.

Attorney Klein said the Illinois Horseracing Act allows a fine of up to $10,000 for each violation. She said every one of the 53 false bids was a separate offense. Skinner disagreed.

THE BOARD accepted the suggestion by member Tom Garven to fine Ogden $10,000 for submitting false bids on each of two major projects (the construction of barns costing $729,001 and $383,857) and to levy a fine of $5,000 for each of the other 17 projects.

Board member Ray Garrison said he wanted to have compassion for Ogden's stockholders. He said he had made inquiries during hearings to determine whether employees had received personal benefits from the bidding procedure.

That would have made Ogden a victim, he said. "But we don't have that situation," Garrison said.

HE NOTED the bidding irregularities occurred under three track general managers. "That forces me to conclude that management has consistently engaged in this scheme to siphon off these state funds by filing applications with false bids," he said.

Concerning Skinner's statement that Fairmount has lost money, Garrison said, "When they don't even bother to check up on bids of this dimension, who's surprised they lost money?"

He said internal controls at Ogden were lacking and described it "a loose operation, loose as a goose."

"THEY CAN'T now disown their responsibility for this sad state of affairs," Garrison said.

Much of last week's lengthy hearing involved testimony by John Luby, regional director of internal audit for Ogden. He and an assistant prepared an internal audit following an investigation of the bidding procedures.

The racing board requested the audit before it would award Fairmount's 1985 racing dates.

LUBY said the report was his independent project and that there was no interference by Ogden officials.

Luby's report concluded that Ogden had included improper bids in order to be reimbursed $2.1 million for projects. He defined improper bids as bids submitted without the serious intention of getting the contract.

The adjectives used to describe those bids were a source of debate on more than one occasion by lawyers for both sides. The bids were reportedly described in the audit report as "complimentary."

LUBY SAID he interviewed Smith and Weaver, but that Graham said his attorney advised him not to agree to an interview. Graham was an Ogden vice-president when he was fired last month.

Skinner said that while Graham would not be interviewed by Luby, Graham had talked to lawyers previously employed by Ogden. Luby said Graham told them he received nothing of substance in exchange for the contracts.

According to testimony at last week's hearing, Hayden Construction performed work and then its owner, Jim Hayden, supplied false bids to help satisfy the racing board when reimbursement applications were submitted.

UNDER QUESTIONING by Skinner, Luby said there was no evidence of kickbacks being received by Fairmount employees. Only minor gifts were received, he said.

Luby said the quality of Ogden's work was said to be excellent, even by some Fairmount people who didn't like Hayden personally.

Under questioning by Garrison, Luby said Bruce Seymour was suspended as general manager last month after giving "inconsistent information" to the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement about a project to install hand dryers at the track. Seymour succeeded Weaver when Weaver quit in September.

GARRISON SAID Seymour told investigators that certain bids were received in 1983 when he knew they were obtained in 1984, a year after the project was completed.

Luby said Seymour called investigators several days after he was suspended and agreed to change his statement.

Skinner asked the board to keep some portions of Luby's report secret. Some portions of the report consist of personal information and should be exempted from the Illinois Open Meetings Law, Skinner said.

Griffin agreed to keep the whole report secret for 48 hours, while Ogden presented legal arguments to support its request. After 48 hours, he will make a ruling, Griffin said.

ALSO PRESENTED was information from Marvin Sokolik of Maryland Heights, Mo., described by Skinner as a construction value specialist.

Ogden attorney Bill Conlon said Sokolik was asked to view the barn constructed in 1981 at Fairmount for which $729,000 reimbursement was received.

Sokolik, who was never told by Ogden officials how much the barn cost, said a fair construction cost for it in 1981 would have been $929,104, plus or minus 5 percent, according to Conlon.

Sisters' kidney transplant operation called successful

Doctors at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis are calling last week's kidney transplant operation between Ella (Rodgers) Eoff and her sister, Guiliana (Rodgers) West, successful.

Mrs. Eoff has suffered from an acute and chronic kidney disease called nephritis since she was 4 years old. Her mother, Norma Rodgers, says the disease developed because of a virus that settled in her kidney.

The 20-year-old Mrs. Eoff is doing "real good," following the receipt of her sister's kidney last Tuesday, according to her father, Verlin Rodgers.

Mrs. West, he reported, had developed a fever after donating the kidney to her sister, but doctors brought the fever under control.

The sisters currently reside in Bourbon, Mo., but the family once lived in Ponton Beach. Mr. Rodgers once worked for Siebold Trucking Company as a driver and Mrs. Rodgers was employed with Reese Drug Store in the Bellemeore Village Shopping Center for six years.

An aunt, Margaret Mayes, lives in Granite City, as does a grandfather, W.C. Whit, who has made Granite City his home for 45 years.

Officials disagree about action by county judges

Madison County judges say they do have the power to block a prosecutor's plans to continue a grand jury investigation into alleged actions by Madison County Superior of Assessments James W. Barton. But Roy O. Guiley, director of the Illinois Supreme Court's administrative office, says the judges don't have the authority.

The special prosecutor, Bruce D. Locher of Springfield, Ill., told reporters that the eight Madison County judges have decided not to allow him to conduct three grand

News notes

Congressman Melvin Price, Armed Services Committee chairman, conducted talks last week in Seoul with South Korean Foreign Minister Lee Won-Kyung on cooperation between the two countries in recruiting members are visiting South Korea, Japan, Hong Kong and Singapore. Price cited the increasing importance of East Asia to the U.S. economy and the "massive and still growing" Soviet military presence in the region.

Governor James R. Thompson has named Chuck Jones, Emergency Services and Disaster Agency assistant director, as acting director until a permanent replacement is chosen for Director E. Erle Jones. The latter is retiring after 11 years as director.

Gov. Thompson said last week there is no way the state will allocate $500 million in new education funding, urged by outgoing Education Superintendent Donald Gill. Thompson said he has no intention of cutting schools, but he did predict a "healthy increase" in education money due to growth in the state's economy.

Meeting Saturday in Chicago, the Illinois Association of School Boards defeated resolution for abolition and replacement of the appointed state education superintendent with an elected official. It was an elective position before 1970.

State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D), Edwardsville, will be elected to one of the Illinois Senate leadership posts, perhaps assistant majority leader. The current veto session is expected to be routine because there are few amendatory controversies.

James Klindt's secretly taped threat to cut his wife "in tiny pieces" has been played for jurors in his second trial for the alleged "chain saw" murder of the former Joyce Monahan, formerly of Granite City. She is thought to have been killed March 18, 1983, at Davenport, Iowa.

The death Nov. 11 of a Menard prison inmate who had AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) has led to a check at Centralia, Menard and Joliet for other prisoners who may have had contact with the victim. Letters were sent to Chicago. Mail may have had the illness before entering the prison system April 3 to serve three years for burglary and attempted burglary.

With Nelson Hagmann seeking reelection as Madison County Board chairman Dec. 3, the board has said it is hoping to maintain present services while achieving a lower tax rate. The $41.436 per $100 budget for the fiscal year starting Dec. 1 may enable the 80.2-cent county rate to fall to 79 cents.

The Vadalabene Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was informally accepted by the university Thursday after an inspection of the new $12.5 million recreation building.

Calvo orders complaints on Weber's past conduct

Circuit Judge Horace L. Calvo last week ordered Special Prosecutor Paul Verticchio to file two complaints against State's Attorney Don W. Weber. Weber lost his re-election effort Nov. 6.

Misconduct allegations to be submitted to the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission relate to Weber's conduct in a Madison County assessment probe and in a rape case in which a Troy man was acquitted.

Weber is accused of trying to intimidate Assessment Supervisor James Barton's attorney, William Lucco, to prevent him from adequately defending his client. It also is contended Weber made several inflammatory statements about Barton in 1983.

Weber is alleged to have brought a reputed rape victim before a grand jury solely to deprive her of the Troy man's case.

Calvo acted on a spring 1984 recommendation from a special grand jury. The disciplinary commission can dismiss such accusations, issue a reprimand or seek disbarment.

Weber said the complaints are unfounded.

jury sessions this month because a new state's attorney will be sworn in Dec. 3.

However, they changed this stand and will not fight an Adams County order issued Friday reconvening jurors here Wednesday.

Locher was appointed by Circuit Judge Dennis K. Cashman of Quincy to conduct the investigation. Judge Cashman was assigned to the case by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Locher was appointed after State's Attorney Don Weber was accused of trying to manipulate a grand jury investigating the assessment practices. Weber was indicted in connection with the allegations that he tried to time the grand jury's findings to his own political advantage, but the charges were subsequently dropped.

Guiley thinks that the decision on whether Locher should continue with the case should be up to Judge Cashman because the judges in the Third Judicial Circuit earlier disqualified themselves from the case.

A. Andreas Matosian of Granite City, a member of the Third Judicial Circuit, has said that the judges were concerned that there may be no need for a special prosecutor because a new state's attorney will be taking over the office. Weber was defeated Nov. 6 by Granite City attorney Dick Allen.

Allen, as acting director until a permanent replacement is chosen for Director E. Erle Jones, the latter is retiring after 11 years as director.

A grand jury has indicted Barton, Board of Review member Fred E. Pinck and two others for alleged $500 million in new education funding, urged by outgoing Education Superintendent Donald Gill. Thompson said he has no intention of cutting schools, but he did predict a "healthy increase" in education money due to growth in the state's economy.

County board voices opposition to weight post

The Madison County Board approved a resolution last week opposing the construction of a new weighing station on Interstate 270 about one mile east of Route 159.

The resolution states that County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City should meet with Illinois Department of Transportation District Engineer Dale Kohn to present the board's concern regarding the construction of the station on the site.

IT ALSO resolves that copies of the resolution be forwarded to the appropriate legislators.

In introducing the resolution, board member Nick Hamilos of Nameoki Township said that the weighing stations, to be constructed on a 34-acre site, would "impact severely upon the residential and agricultural quality of land at this site."

"Not only is the property owner affected, but also 600 persons within the vicinity of the weighing stations are opposed to construction of these stations on these particular sites," he said.

HAMILIOS PRESENTED a petition bearing the signatures of 700 residents opposed to the construction project because they feel that the weighing station would lead to decreasing property values in the area and an increase in traffic and noise. He added that the owner of the property does not want to sell the property because it has "been in his family for years."

Hamilios said alternate sites where little or no opposition would occur are available.

In other action Wednesday, the board adopted a resolution to establish and maintain an automated record-keeping system in the circuit clerk's office. Because state law requires the cost of such a system to be borne by counties with populations under one million, the county board allowed the circuit clerk's office to charge a $3 automation fee to be paid at the time of filing of all records and papers with that office.

THE BOARD also authorized the Madison County Nursing Home to charge $100 per month for patient care, beginning Jan. 1. Health Institutions Committee Chairman

SILVER TAKEN IN BURGLARY

Thomas Fields of 212 Abbott St., Venice, told Venice police this month that someone broke into his house and took $20 worth of silver coins, a gold wedding ring, a diamond ring and a silver railroad watch.

Police noted that a basement window had been taken out and that the basement door to the house was open.

In addition, it appeared that someone ransacked several rooms in the house.

William Webb said the increase amounts to $7.25 per month, but "We're still the cheapest in the county."

Companies and individuals wishing to apply for industrial revenue bonds from the county also will have to pay more, due to board action Wednesday.

The board approved a resolution setting a $500, non-refundable "application fee," payable to the county upon application for industrial revenue bonds. The application also sets a $4,000 fee at the time of bond closing, "to assist in offsetting the costs incurred by the county."

THE FEE revenues are to be deposited in the county's general fund and will be used for eligible county operating expenses normally paid from the general fund.

Board Member Homer Henke told the board that the grants committee researched the industrial revenue bond application procedures with other governmental bodies, and found that the new fees are "the nominal fee for processing. We felt it was the bare minimum of what we should charge."

OTHER RESOLUTIONS approved by the county board include the following:

A resolution to contract with various agencies for the administration of emergency assistance programs. These agencies include the Tri-Cities United Way, which will receive $6,500 from the Community Services Block Grant Program from Nov. 15 to Dec. 31 and $11,500 from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1985, and the Madison County Urban League for Alton, Madison and Venice, which will receive $3,000 from Nov. 15 to Dec. 31.

A resolution authorizing Hagnauer to take whatever action is necessary to submit the required applications for state financial assistance to upgrade the emergency operations center.

A RESOLUTION fixing the salary of the county superintendent of highways at $42,717 for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1985. The salary remains unchanged from the current year.

A resolution proclaiming that any proposed settlement of the disputed assessed value of Illinois Power Company property in Wood River Township will be rejected in favor of continued litigation.

A resolution vacating an abandoned portion of State Aid Route 35 south of Route 162 in Nameoki Township.

A RESOLUTION approving supplemental health insurance coverage for county employees from Lexington Company at a fixed cost of $14.36 per individual per month.

A resolution accepting 15 easements from property owners in various subdivisions in Pontoon Beach for the operation and maintenance of sewers.

Yule party Dec. 5 a good way to learn about Coronary Club

What has happened to my heart?

Will I live?
Can I go back to work and do the things I like to do?

These are the most common questions asked by patient who have just undergone some form of heart disease. To help these people cope with the stresses of everyday life and to keep them up to date on the newest research in the field of heart disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave. in Granite City, has established the Coronary Club.

Open to anyone interested in learning more about heart disease, the Coronary Club meets the third Wednesday of each month at the medical center in the Wiesman Room, starting at 7 p.m.

The purpose of the club is to help people understand the personal risks of heart disease," said Val Buder, Intensive Cardiac Care Unit Assistant supervisor and club representative. It also serves as a resource to heart patients, their relatives and other interested professionals, and provides education and supportive socialization for persons diagnosed with coronary artery disease.

At each meeting, a specialist discusses those topics important to victims of heart disease and their families. In the past year alone, our guests speakers have included a cardiologist, rehabilitation coordinator, pulmonary specialist, recreational therapist, pharmacist and a dietitian.

As a member of the Coronary Club, individuals are entitled to free membership, free parking privileges and transportation to meetings and special events, such as Cardinal baseball games and the club's potluck picnic and Christmas party.

Due to the holidays, there will be no regular meeting during November or December. However, members and other interested persons are being encouraged to attend the Christmas party on Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 6 p.m. in the Wiesman Room. A potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Participants are asked to bring a dish low in cholesterol and sodium. Donations for the main course will be collected that evening.

Entertainment will be presented by Fred Stroud, a professional entertainer, who will amuse members and guests with his night club act, which includes selected piano arrangements and a ventriloquist act.

Individuals interested in becoming a member of the Coronary Club or who would like to attend the Christmas party may contact Vicki Young at 798-3658 or Bev Motil at 798-3459.

CALLOUSES

A callous is a mass of thickened skin commonly found at the ball of the foot at a site of friction, irritation or pressure. It occurs often over a bone enlargement or at a site of abnormal weight distribution. Symptoms include burning, tenderness or a throbbing ache.

Callouses can be caused by a variety of factors. Faulty weight distribution, ill-fitting footwear, high heeled shoes, foot deformities, toe deformities, limb shortages, paralysis and some diseases are to name but a few.

Treatment of callouses depends upon its cause and severity. Many callouses on the ball of the foot are coin shaped and form a deep core in them. They are often excruciatingly painful. Trimming provides only temporary relief, if any, with the lesion rapidly returning. Unfortunately, many people have them misdiagnosed as warts and have them cut or burned out only to have them return. Fortunately, this type of callous can often be cured. However, this requires discovering the cause of the callous. Once the underlying cause is removed the callous can then be eliminated.

Presented as a public service by Claude Hiles, D.P.M., specializing in diseases and surgery of the foot.

Dorcas Group aids Arizona Indians

Members of the Dorcas Group of Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church, collected clothing for the Arizona Indian project and brought the articles to the group meeting, last week. They also brought Betty Crocker coupons and Campbell product labels to be used by the organization. They met in the home of Mrs. Myra Parrish with Beth Spengler, group chairman, opening the meeting with the CWF prayer.

During the session Ernie Halbert was added to the group's homebound list and plans were completed for remembering all those on the list during the holiday season, and the CWU will host a potluck luncheon at noon on Dec. 7 at Nameoki Presbyterian Church, it was noted. A "white elephant" gift is to be brought for the silent auction with all proceeds to be donated to the Fifth Decade.

Other announcements included the December meeting, that will be a potluck, with Mrs. Vanna Berkbigler as hostess. Members reported on calls made, cards sent, daily devotions and number of books read during the preceding weeks.

Mrs. Spengler gave the reading for the Least Coin offering, and Mrs. Dorothea Riverburgh presented the lesson on "Revelations of Life," the third study from the Gospel of John. During the worship hour, all members participated and the meeting was closed with the benediction.

A dessert course was served to Mrs. Berkbigler, Luemta Durbin, Mrs. Riverburgh, Margaret Rutter, Mrs. Spengler, Helen Stone, Carmen Toth and Mary Turner.

Plans were formulated for a Christmas party to be held in the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Helen Cook. The closing prayer was given by Lucille Veach. Refreshments were then served to those named and to Evelyn Mohorn, Ruth Messey, Gladys Tempelman, Louise Rollins, Mary Charlton, Sharon Purkey and Irma Seibold.

Methodist Sisterhood marks 55th anniversary

The Sisterhood of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church celebrated the 55th anniversary of the organization with a turkey banquet held in the church fellowship hall, last week.

All decorations were carried out in a Thanksgiving motif with real pumpkins arranged as table centerpieces. Favors were handmade pot-pourri articles in fall colors created by Elsie Byrd and Virginia Kessler. The welcoming address was delivered by Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, president of the group followed by Mrs. Mary Davis, vice president introducing special guests and charter members.

Honorees included Mayme Waggoner, Alma Davis, Geneva Golemer, Mrs. Cobien, Elsie Byrd, Emma Elmore and Tennie Webb.

Christian Science members set Thanksgiving service

A special Thanksgiving service is planned for the community, Thursday, Nov. 22nd, by the local Christian Science congregation. A passage from Psalms provides the keynote: "Praise ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God. He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds."

Exploring the importance of gratitude in daily life, the sermon on "Thanksgiving" will include passages from the Scriptures and accompanying selections from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by the Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy.

The lesson readings emphasize that thanksgiving is far more than a passive posture to blessings. As a passage from Science and Health asks: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

During the long-hour service, the congregation will hear the Thanksgiving Proclamation by the President of the United States, share hymns of praise, brief silent prayer, and the Lord's Prayer. The latter portion of the meeting has been set aside for spontaneous testimonies of gratitude to God.

All Christian Science services are open to the community, families and neighbors are invited to attend this special annual gathering. It will begin at 10:45 a.m. at 2560 Delmar Ave.

Thanksgiving service set at Grace Baptist Tuesday night

Grace Baptist Church, located at 2800 Edwards St., will host a Thanksgiving service on Tuesday, Nov. 20th. Prior to the service the members will meet at 6 p.m. for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner and a time of fellowship. Immediately following the meal, the members will then gather in the auditorium of the church to take part in a special service of thanksgiving, adoration and praise.

The service itself will begin promptly at 7 p.m. and the public is invited and encouraged to attend. This unique service of worship will center around personal testimonies offered by the members of the congregation. Special music will also be an integral part of the service, and individuals and groups within the church, according to the Rev. Bob Jones.

This particular service has been an annual event for the church for the past four years and according to Pastor Jones, "It is the sweetest and best service of the year." A service in which no requests will be made unto God, only the giving of thanksgiving, adoration and praise unto the Lord for all of the blessings that He has bestowed upon His people, the minister added.

Presbyterians to prepare food baskets

The spirit of Christmas will be ushered in to the Nameoki Presbyterian, 1700 Pontiac Road, on the first Sunday of Advent, Dec. 2nd, with a celebration of the Lord's Supper in the Church. "This is a very special season that will be observed in a variety of ways in our church," stated the pastor, the Rev. Don F. Pierson. "We have planned for an expression of gift-giving in a Christmas Festival on the evening of that first Advent Sunday," he added.

The "Christmas Festival" will find several booths of Christmas games manned by children and parents. Tickets will be secured through the donation of a can of food for each ticket. The food items will be used in the Deacons' Christmas basket program. Tickets for the canned food will be available on Sunday, Nov. 25th.

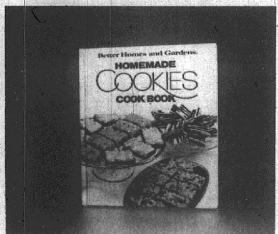

"To God Be the Glory" will be this Sunday's theme in the 10:15 a.m. service, announced Pastor Pierson. "How to be a Caring Person" is being taught by the pastor in the 9 a.m. coffee hour. "Competent to Counsel" with a Christian perspective, is our aim," the pastor added. The Sunday School meets at 9 a.m. as well.

Plan new bids on Lake School

The Granite City Board of Education last week rejected both Lake School acquisition bids that had been received Oct. 25.

Board members indicated they are likely to vote tomorrow to ask the Madison County Board of School Trustees to seek a third round of bids, this time including the school district's minimum desired price.

The minimum amount that will be specified has not yet been decided by the board. Supt. Frank L. Kraus said Tuesday night he believes the former elementary school is worth at least $310,000.

The amounts cited in appraisals of the property have not been announced, but the board said the value is higher than the bids that were attracted late last month.

The offers rejected were $205,500 from Construction Concepts Corp., 40 Whitworth Drive, Edwardsville, and $180,000 from Ronald K. Stratman, 11500 Riverview Drive, St. Louis. Each made a 10-percent down payment. The president of Construction Concepts is Robert H. Moore.

Supt. Frank L. Kraus recommended rejection, which was voted, 7-0. He said the $205,500 offer is "well below what it is worth."

Lake School and its campus are at 3201 E. 23rd St. Dimensions of the tract are 522, 748, 548 and 760 feet.

School Attorney William Schooley said that if no one meets whatever minimum price is set by the board, the district thereafter would be in a position to sell the property through negotiation by Realtors. If someone bids the minimum, or more, the board would be obligated to sell it.

Kraus said it might be possible to offer the sales task to the Board of Realtors, at a specified commission, if no one meets the minimum. Any member real estate agency then would be able to seek a buyer.

The superintendent related, "There is active interest in purchasing Lake One organization planned to make a bid but was delayed because it was one vote short of the required two-thirds approval on the night it considered authorizing a bid. Time ran out before they could authorize an offer."

Guilty plea leads to three-year sentence

Louis Snider, 20, has been sentenced to serve three years in an Illinois state prison after pleading guilty early this fall to an April charge of attempted residential burglary.

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill also ordered Snider to pay $90 in court costs.

Granite City police handled the investigation that led to the charges against Snider, who lists an address of 132 Briarcliff Drive.

IDOT honors 3 employees

The Illinois Department of Transportation has named Marvin Wuebbles of Germantown, Tommy Summers of Granite City and Gary Lyles of Fieldon as "Employee of the Quarter," "Safety Employee of the Quarter" and "Leadworker of the Quarter" respectively by District 8 of the Illinois Department of Transportation, Fairview Heights, Illinois.

They were selected over candidates chosen from the 10 counties served by District 8 based on significant contribution during the past fall quarter.

The presentation was announced by Dale L. Kiohr, district engineer.

Stabbing case leads to two-year prison term

Jeffrey Martin, 22, of 131 Troeckler Lane, Mitchell, has been sentenced to serve two years in an Illinois state prison after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated battery. Madison County Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson handed down the sentence.

Martin was charged with aggravated battery with a cutting instrument last February after allegedly stabbing Darrin Armour in the chest with a knife. Armour was wounded in a fight with Martin at a party at 712 Ashland Ave., Mitchell.

Venice man sentenced in Alton burglary case
Madison County Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick has sentenced 29-year-old Diametrus Compton, 601 Allen St., Venice, to serve four years in an Illinois state prison after Compton entered a guilty plea to a May charge of burglary.

Alton police handled the investigation and Compton was sentenced last month.

Trojan Basketball

'51-'52 Madison cagers a small, talented group

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Madison High School has given basketball fans of southwest Illinois some great teams.

Of most recent memory, of course, are those brilliant quintets coached by Larry Graham which resulted in a pair of spine-tingling Illinois state championships.

Before that, too, fans around the mid-twenties, the 1924-25 season, were thrilled when their Trojans won an amazing 28 straight victories.

But, in the era of just one class tournament, the 1951-52 Madison Trojans, a small-sized squad, spun a record of almost unbelievable victories, only to lose in a heart-breaker at the University of Illinois' Huff Gym to the Lawrenceville Indians, 63-61.

In that sensational year, 1951-52, Madison had a young and new coach, Francis (Pat) Dant, who was just 26 years old. He had played his prep sports (football, basketball and baseball) at Madison and starred in all three sports at Northeast Missouri State at Kirksville.

Madison, which was the second smallest school in the state tourney that year, started slowly but put together a nail-biting 17-game winning streak before bowing out at Champaign-Urbana.

In that 17-game streak, the Madison Trojans wrote a saga of great basketball. Their toughest game was against their own town's Dunbar High Bears, whom they defeated, 52-48, in overtime on Jim Greer's basket to run his total (game high) to 15 points.

Advancing to the Regional Tournament at Edwardsville, the Trojans' first foe was Granite City. Paced by John Doneff's 19 points, Madison beat the Warriors, 55-43. Still in the tourney were favorites, Joe Lucco's Edwardsville Tigers and Vergil Fletcher's Collinsville Kahoks. Collinsville was ranked in the top five in the state all the season.

Edwardsville was next for the Trojans. Paced by John Doneff and Jim Greer's 17 points each and he timely 10 points of their stubby little guard, Bobby Page, Madison took care of Edwardsville, 55-49.

In the final against Collinsville, Madison was given little chance of topping the mighty Kahoks. Nobody gave the Trojans a nod, except for the young Madison coach, Dant. His players and 5,000-plus Madison fans and, by the time a goodly number of Venice and Granite City fans.

Madison won it, 71-70, to break the hearts of the huge contingent of Collinsville fans. It took a record-breaking scoring feat by Jim Greer, who poured in 26 points, plus 16 by Page and 10 by Ron Lybarger to turn the trick. It was a free throw by Lybarger in the game's last second which won it.

High point man on that Collinsville team was none other than Don Deterding, who registered 21 points, and coach at Granite City High.

Going into the sectional tournament at Wood River's 4,000-seat gym, it didn't get any easier for Coach Dant and his Trojans. They edged out a real good Jerseyville team, in a 59-47 cliff-hanger. Page and Greer each poured in 19 points to break the Panthers' hearts.

Going for their 17th straight, the Bulldogs of Waterloo High was Madison's opponent in the sectional championship game. And, as usual, it was a 52-49 thrilling victory for Madison and their first trip to the state tournament. A balanced scoring effort by Doneff (14 points), Page (12 points) and Greer (13 points) eliminated Waterloo.

At Champaign, the Lawrenceville Indians finally defeated Madison, 63-61, but in that game, Madison's little guard, Bobby Page put on one of that tournament's most amazing scoring displays ever seen in Huff Gym. With just two minutes remaining in the game, Madison trailed, 57-47.

The 5-6½ Page drove in for a lay-up, hit a push shot, made a fast-break layup, tipped in a rebound and collected two free throws to bring back the Trojans into the game, 63-59. After hitting the two chances, Page fouled out. He finished with 26 points.

Jim Greer's last second jump-shot made it 63-61 just as the final whistle blew.

Madison hadn't quit. The Trojans simply ran into the coldest game they had that season. Madison was 3-13 from the floor while Lawrenceville racked up a 457 figure.

In Lawrenceville's next game they bowed to Hebron, Ill., which went on to win the championship, the smallest (population, that is) school ever to win the Illinois prep crown. Madison was just a little bigger, but not much.

Prior to the Lawrenceville game, Louis (Pete) Dehner, now retired, but the colorful highly successful coach at East St. Louis, picked Madison to win its first game in Champaign. Interviewed now over the telephone, Dehner, who was an All-American at the U. of Illinois, remembers: "Dant probably had the best conditioned bunch of players in the entire state of Illinois. They could run forever. And Page was an outstanding floor general."

Collinsville's Vergil Fletcher, also retired, also remembered that the Madison squad was "real small, but they kept coming a you. We had started using our full-court press by that time, but it didn't seem to bother Madison."

In the Collinsville Herald at that time, the editor, Karl Monroe, in his column "As I See It," quoted Fletcher thus: "Fletcher had the highest praise for Madison. That Page is as fine a player as there is around here. He can shoot and he didn't play with blunders one — he could really spot an open man. Madison had more players with natural ability than any of the other teams in the tournament."

Joe Lucco, now retired in Edwardsville, remembers not only Page, but the slender Jim Greer. "He was one of the best outcourt shooters the area has ever had," said Lucco.

Says Page now, "I have no regrets."

Dant, now retired and living at Breeze, Ill., refused to single out any of the 1951-52 teams for special attention.

His starters were: guards, Jim Greer and Bobby Page, center Ron Lybarger and forwards Jerry Maeras and John Doneff. He did judge just a little when he said, "Tom Zelenko was the best sixth man in the whole area. I could play him anywhere."

He went on to point to the contributions made by John Crnkovich, Carl Palchett, Vernie Crocharell and Garland McGarvey.

And, speaking of the '51-'52 team, Coach Dant went out of his way to give credit to Fred Riddle for the squad's development. Explained Dant, "It was most first year as head coach. Riddle had brought the boys along and turned them over to me in great shape."

John Belcoff, former (18 years) member of the Madison school board and then, as now, probably the Trojans' No. 1 fan, agrees with Dant about Riddle's role in developing the '52 team. But he points out what the modest Dant wouldn't take credit for. "Pat was a great believer in getting his players in top physical condition. He ran his boys until they almost dropped, but when it came time for the opening whistle, nobody could run with Madison." Belcoff is now vice-president of the First National Bank in Madison.

Page, who probably could have signed a pro baseball contract fresh out of high school, opted instead to play basketball for Ed Hickey at St. Louis U. The stubby Page, who now teaches here in Granite City, threw two no-hitters in high school.

Defeat Mehlville 6-1

Warrior skaters win second; meet Kirkwood this evening

By JAMES BLASINGAME
of the Press-Record

SUSON PARK — The Granite City Hockey Club upped its record to 2-0 Sunday night, as the Warriors defeated Mehlville High School 6-1.

Although Granite City fell behind 1-0 just 1:02 into the first period, the Warriors dominated the rest of the contest by outshooting Mehlville 30-12.

Chris Carden tied the score 1-1 when he took a pass from Dave Young and slapped the puck into the goal at the 6:16 mark.

Two minutes later, Todd Hinterser went ahead to stay. Todd Hinterser skated past two defenders for an unassisted goal to put Granite City on top.

IN THE second-period Hinterser got things going for the Warriors with his second goal of the evening. This time Mark Doniff and Bill Moore each got an assist.

Dave Yurkovich added to Granite City's lead when he scored unassisted on a breakaway with 5:07 left in period No. 2.

Granite City scored two more times in the third period. Carden increased the Warriors' lead with his second goal of the night at the 6:32 mark, and Terry Wade closed out the scoring with 2:32 left in the game. Jeff Cooper and Doniff were credited with assists on Carden's goal, while Bill Causey got the assist on Wade's.

Warrior coach Garry Hensen was pleased with his team's play. "I thought we played pretty well.

Our penalty-killing was excellent, plus we picked up two short-handed goals," Hensen said.

The Warriors are ranked among the top teams in the Mid-States Hockey League, and are blessed with a surplus of talent. After pouncing McCluer North 4-1 in a preseason contest and then hammering Hazelwood East 12-0 in the season opener, Granite City is the odds-on favorite to win their Northern Division.

"We've got a pretty good little team here," said Hensen. "We don't have to rely on just one or two guys to keep us in the game."

The Warriors go for their third win of the young season tonight when they take on Kirkwood at the Wilson Park rink. Faceoff is at 8:30.

Score: Needy are winners at Madison FCA hoop benefit

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

MADISON — It was a sweet shot. There he was, "22" in the jersey. Marcus Spraggins in the hearts of the Madison High School faculty basketball team, drifting down the right side of the hardwood.

It was the dying seconds of the contest pitting the Madison High teachers against a faculty group from Madison Middle School last Friday night at the Madison gymnasium. Spraggins, a physical education teacher at the high school, seemed to smile as he cruised down the floor. Before dropping the ball down to his right side in a shooting pose, he might even have looked at the clock, which showed hardly no time.

IT WAS then he swept the ball over his head — a hook shot that would have done even Kareem proud. Marcus winged the ball approximately 40 feet through the air and toward the hoop. It went in! Honest to goodness, no sound! The teachers' game ceased the inside of the net, making a light rippling noise, like the sound of waves meeting gently, did the buzzer go off.

The shot helped the Madison High faculty to a 56-30 victory: was one of three games played this night. Well, actually two. The teachers' game represented a half of a game. The Middle School eighth graders filled the other half with a contest of their own.

THEN, when the kids and the teachers were finished, it was "showtime." That's when the varsity Trojans divided into a senior team and a junior squad — took the floor.

Spraggins' shot brought a huge roar from the nearly three-quarters filled gymnasium crowd. Rivaling even James Bennet's dunk and adroit play by such stalwarts as Delroy Williams and Reggie Banks in the varsity game.

But the noise was no less greater in the lobby outside the door. The shots taken were no less sweeter.

FROM THE lobby came the roar of cheering fans, boys and girls, as red, white and green beans and even fish steaks being placed in boxes; the roar of hands dipping into wallets bringing out dollar bills.

That was the admission to the benefit games: canned goods, money or both.

The goods and money are to go to the needy people in Madison. The money will buy chicken and turkey that, together with the canned goods, will make filling food baskets for Thanksgiving.

The author of this sweet shot is the school's Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA), the organization which sponsored the benefit games for a third consecutive year.

THE FCA, in its fourth year of existence, is the brainchild of Madison High principal Dan Kostencki. If Kostencki is the "coach" of this club which helps inspire students to help others, Charles Steptoe and Mark Jiles are the top scorers.

Steptoe is a guidance counselor at Madison High. In the spring time, he is the school's track coach. A teacher, Jiles is an assistant coach in football, basketball and track. They are faculty sponsors of the FCA.

It was they who suggested using the basketball games as a stage to help the needy in the community.

"Now, that's a pretty big undertaking," uttered Kostencki. "But let's go ahead and try it."

It was also Steptoe, with an assist from Jiles, who collected the cans and cash in the lobby just inside the door. A door, mind you, that didn't close by itself because of the constant influx of contributors.

In shirt sleeves, Steptoe warded off an open cold draft by placing the cans and cash in their respective places, and talking about the FCA.

The organization, comprised of several students including about 15 who meet weekly, do things other than sports. Basketball, however, is practiced out. They also wash cars. They served as caddies this year at the Tim Van Galder celebrity golf tournament.

WITH THEIR collections, they pay their way to camps and FCA gatherings. They have met such Christian athletes as Carl Birdsong, Pat Tilley and Neil Lomax through the meetings. One of their members delivered a prayer at an important FCA function.

They meet students from other schools who belong to an FCA Chapter. Their president is a fellow named Stevie Ball, a senior. You might have seen him at the games. He wore a shirt which read "Hugs Are Better Than Drugs."

The students in the Madison FCA work hard.

"I think work helps to mold the character a little bit," said Steptoe.

THEY devote the first part of their meetings to the discussion of religion, the other part to sports.

"We talk about Jesus and his life and how he died for us," Steptoe said.

"They're everyday kids, said Steptoe. "They struggle with it (life and values). They have 'real' questions about life... how people think about themselves and not other people," Steptoe said. "Just a matter of thinking there's a different way to deal with people (other than fighting)."

"We have some good ones (kids), and we have some who forget themselves every now and then," said Steptoe, the corners of his mouth turning up in a smile.

"We're working at it," he said. "They're working at it, too."

THE SCHOOL'S FCA members also deliver the food baskets. Some

'Big Bill' Ohlendorf is among coaches hirings

Call it naive. Call it whatever you want. But I have considerable faith in my fellow man. Most often people will always do the right thing, I think.

That was my thinking as on the recent bond issue for Granite City Community School District Nine.

Granite City needs its schools and the people responded.

It seems that I'm not the only one who thinks this way. Evidentially, the people at the Granite City High, particularly in the athletic department, think that way too.

Without knowing if the bond issue would pass, Warrior winter sports coaches began practice on Nov. 1.

Well, the bond issue passed and a week later, Granite City's School Board did what they didn't want to do before the election. They approved the hiring and rehiring of those coaches who have already begun practicing. It was the coaches' thinking that if the bond issue passed, then they'd still be on schedule. If it didn't, and winter sports were victims of the budget-cutting knife, they would be out some of their own time, but it would be worth it.

Well, the issue passed and so far everything is rosy again.

Most of the hirings were merely standard procedure — a formality. But there was one hiring — that of Bill Ohlendorf — which made me and other Warrior coaches very happy.

Ohlendorf, the only basketball coach the Granite City North Steelers ever had, was honorably dismissed two years ago when the district consolidated the high schools. Since then, he's been doing the thing he calls his "second love," training thoroughbred race horses.

His trainings have taken him to some of the finest tracks in the Midwest, in particular Hawthorne and Sportsman's Park in Chicago.

"Basketball is and always will be my first love, but I do enjoy working with the horses," Ohlendorf said Wednesday. "It's really good to be back."

Ohlendorf's return will, without question, strengthen the Warriors' basketball coaching staff. His knowledge of the game and his experience as a head coach will be a huge asset to the Warrior hoop program.

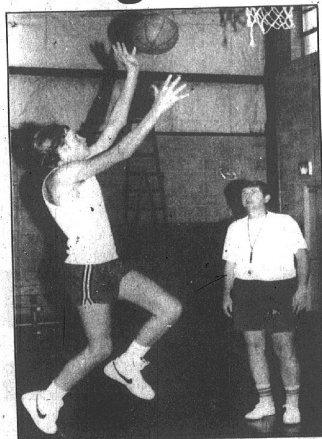

With Big Bill as the sophomore coach, Bryan Wilkinson as the freshmen coach and Jack Parker (assistant) and Don Deterding coaching the varsity, the Warriors have perhaps the most experienced staff in the state. Three of the four, Deterding, Wilkinson and Ohlendorf, are or have been varsity head coaches at one time or another. Deterding is the Warrior head coach while Wilkinson was for three years before he transferred to North High school to become athletic director.

"We're elated to have Bill back," Deterding said. "With him we should have one of the best staffs in the state of Illinois. He will surely help our program. With him, Bryan and Jack, I couldn't ask for a better coaching staff."

"It's sure good to have him back."

It sure is.

Other appointments and reappointments at the high school included Gordon Galbreath as the girls' basketball coach. Galbreath, in his second year as coach, will be assisted by John Hutchings. Hutchings replaces Jake Varadian, Galbreath's assistant last year.

Ohlendorf leading Wednesday's practice

For wrestling, Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt has been reappointed for as the Warriors' head coach. Assisting Schmitt will be Larry Carl and Walt Whitaker. Carl, has been with Schmitt for some time, but Whitaker replaces Jim Harsh who has resigned his assistant's position.

Whitaker, who was the Steelers' coach for 10 years and formerly Schmitt's assistant before becoming the Steelers' first and only coach, is also the head coach at Granite City Center.

Turning to baseball, the Warrior staff will remain the same as last year except for the hiring of Gus Lignoul. Lignoul will assume the freshmen coaching position vacated by John Modica. Bob Stegmeier will once again be the Warriors' head coach with Parker as his assistant and Greg Patton, the sophomore coach.

Dave McClain, the coach who led the Warrior cross country team to one of its most successful seasons in years, will once again be the Warriors' track coach. Assisting McClain will be Mel Bunting, former Granite City South head coach. Ron Yates, Daves Ames and Whitaker.

The other spring sport assigned, tennis, will be coached by Dick Harmon. Harmon already coaches girls' tennis in the fall.

The only other coaching position left unassigned is that of girls' soccer this spring. In its first season, Joe Fedora, district administrative assistant for physical education and athletics, says he hopes to name a coach soon.

Cougars Lose Vadabalene Center finally open

EDWARDSVILLE — The $2.5 million building where Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville athletic teams will play their home games came another step closer to being opened Thursday. And then Sunday, the building hosted its first-ever athletic contest there as the NCAA-II Cougar wrestlers took to the mats against Oklahoma.

The Cougars dropped the contest, however, to the Sooners 26-12.

The Vadabalene Center for Health, Recreation and Physical Education, a 100,000 square-foot structure located on campus grounds, received verbal acceptance last Thursday by SIUE officials, the school has announced. The verbal acceptance came after officials gave the building a final inspection.

DESIGNS officials from SIUE, also approving a final inspection of the center, were representatives of Azarelli Construction Co., the general contractor of the building, and CDB officials.

The school did not announce when officials will complete final arrangements.

However, the school has said it will officially dedicate the new center on Wednesday, Dec. 5. The SIUE women's basketball team will play St. Louis University at 5:15 p.m. that day followed by the men's team contest against Lewis University. The school will also hold special ceremonies in honor of the dedication.

THE CENTER, which has been under construction since 1981, will serve many other purposes besides being the site of intercollegiate activities. The gymnasium has movable bleachers, folding curtains and a movable stage allowing for the hosting of events simultaneously. The facility's acoustical and lighting arrangements will allow for large-scale shows, concerts, dances and other events.

Other major rooms and facilities include racquetball courts, dance studio, human performance laboratory, gymnasium room, combat room, weight room, training area and equipment room.

The building also includes 34 offices for the department of health, recreation and physical education, the department of athletics, building administration, and a swimming pool.

The building is named for State Senator Sam M. Vadabalene of Edwardsville.

Cardinals' Horton is sports banquet's featured speaker

The Granite City Park District's 25th Annual Sports Award Banquet will be held Monday, Nov. 19, at the Harold Brown Recreation Center at 6:30 p.m. The banquet will honor all those who have participated in the park's summer baseball program.

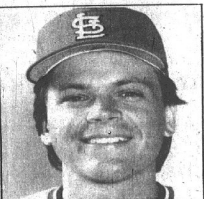

Tickets for the banquet are now on sale at the Wilson Park office. Price of the tickets are $2 each, which includes soda, hot dog and a bag of potatoe chips.

A highlight film from the 1984 All-Star game will be shown. Also highlighting the banquet will be guest speaker Ricky Horton, pitcher of the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals.

Also slated to attend will be former Cardinal great Dal Maxvill who is now coaching with the Atlanta Braves.

For more information, persons should contact John Lakin, recreation supervisor, at the park office, 877-3059.

GC team in state football championship

Although Granite City High did not make it to the Illinois High School Association's football playoffs, one Granite City team will be there in Bloomington for the state championship game next weekend.

The team consists of Harry Briggs, Vic Buehler and Jim Davis. The three, along with Rich Carlson of Shelbyville, have been selected by the IHSA to officiate the Illinois 2A State Championship game. Briggs, Buehler and Davis are District 9 educators.

Briggs is principal at Niedringhaus Elementary School. Buehler is an assistant principal at the high school, while Davis is a junior high teacher and girls' softball coach at the high school.

So, Granite City does have a team in the state championships after all.

might call it work, Steptoe said that it is a "pleasure."

"We really feel fulfilled," he said. "It wasn't just the FCA students who gave a little of themselves last Friday night, but also several others. All the work, including the security, was donated, Kostencki pointed out."

Then means Spraggins' sweet hook shot was made on his own time. Then, however, the shot was no less dazzling than the entire varsity contest. A total of 108 points were scored, 65 by the seniors; a point difference seven points greater than the 15 jauntily predicted by senior guard DeLoyd Williams before the contest. "We're going to give a little show tonight," he said.

YOU CAN tell the Trojans' new coach, Rodney Watson, is going to fit in nicely. He wasn't counting just the many points scored. "Too many mistakes," he said, when asked what he thought about the Trojans' play.

In this, he was consistent. It was pointed out to Watson that he scored a bundle of points in leading the high school teachers to their victory.

"Made a lot of turnovers, too," he said.

He turned serious when asked his feelings about the benefit, to which he also contributed canned goods.

"A great idea," he said.

Indeed, the final score was pleasing: 57 canned goods and 150 dollar bills collected.

For variety, try cooking holiday turkey on the barbecue grill

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Extension Adviser

If you're like most holiday chiefs, you plan to roast your turkey the traditional way and serve it with the traditional accompaniments. But if you're interested in trying something a little different this year, you might consider cooking your turkey on a barbecue or covered kettle grill — weather permitting. Even if the weather doesn't cooperate, you can still add a little pizzazz to your traditional Thanksgiving dinner by using new recipes for side dishes and desserts. When the old favorites no longer seem special, it may be time to think about varying your menu a little. Cooking a turkey or turkey parts outdoors is easy, and it will leave your oven free for other jobs. Turkey parts can be cooked on any barbecue grill, and a whole turkey can be cooked in a covered kettle grill. Charcoal makes a hot fire. To build your fire, you can line the grill with heavy-duty aluminum foil to aid even cooking and easy cleanup. Stack the coals in a pyramid and, follow the directions on the lighter-fluid bottle. Once the coals are white-hot, spread them to form an even layer. When using an open grill, be sure racks are 6 to 8 inches from the embers for an even heat without too much intensity. Small turkey quarter racks are good for this method of cooking. Young fryer-roaster turkeys weighing 6 to 8 pounds can be cut into individual servings. The turkey pieces will take at least an hour to cook, depending on their size and thickness. Turn them occasionally while they're cooking. If they start to char, raise the rack farther from the heat. When using a covered kettle-type grill, arrange charcoal on both sides of the fire bowl with a drip pan in the center of the coals. If you're cooking a whole turkey, place it on a rack over the grill. Cover the grill. Add a few coals along each side of the drip pan every hour. To give it a hickory-smoked flavor, sprinkle one-half cup of water-soaked hickory chips or flakes over the coals during the last half-hour of cooking. If you prefer a heavier hickory-smoked flavor, add more chips or flakes. Allow 15 to 28 minutes per pound for an unstuffed turkey cooked on a covered grill. For a stuffed turkey, allow 18 to 24 minutes per pound. Regardless of how you cook your turkey, you can still add a twist to your traditional Thanksgiving dinner this year. Try Grandma's French Dressing instead of bread stuffing, and Pumpkin Squares instead of pumpkin pie. Whole-Berry Cranberry Sauce may be a welcome change of pace from the usual cranberry gel. GRANDMA'S FRENCH DRESSING

3/4 pound ground beef
1/4 pound ground pork
1/2 cup ketchup
2 medium onions
9 medium red potatoes

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Probation ordered in July stabbing case

Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson has ordered Hubert Williams, 36, of 709 Twenty-Sixth St., to serve one year of probation and pay a $50 fine after Williams pleaded guilty last month to a July charge of aggravated battery.

The felony charge stemmed from an incident at a 26th Street address when Williams allegedly stabbed David Barron, 25, of 2510 Delmar Ave.

Granite City police officers went to the address after receiving an anonymous call and found Barron had been taken by friends to the hospital.

Barron suffered a stab wound to the left side of his lower abdomen. Police found Williams, unarmed, sitting inside the doorway of his residence, and he was placed under arrest.

Reports indicated that Williams and Barron were arguing in Williams' yard when Williams displayed a knife and allegedly struck Barron.

WARRANT SERVED FOR FTA ON THEFT CHARGE

Theresa Pike, 47, of 14156 Niederhagen Ave., was served a warrant alleging for failure to appear in court on a theft charge last week. Miss Pike had been stopped by Granite City police for a traffic violation, when it was discovered there was an active warrant on file against her. Miss Pike paid $100 on the traffic violation and was released on her own recognizance for the warrant.

BOY ROBS WOMAN OF PURSE

A teenage boy pushed Mrs. Patricia Smith, 4717 Warnock Ave., causing her to fall against a large trash container in the Bellemore Village Shopping Center rear parking lot last week. She dropped her brown purse containing $45 and he grabbed the purse and fled north on foot.

ITEMS STOLEN FROM TRUCK
Benny Gordon of Cameron, Mo., reported to Venice police this month that someone broke into his truck by breaking a vent window as the truck was parked in front of Curley's Diner at the Broadway viaduct. A CB radio, radar detector and suitcase containing clothes were missing from the truck.

3 CHARGES AGAINST DRIVER

Scott D. Ribbing, 23, of 2138 Cleveland Blvd. was arrested for failing to reduce speed to avoid a crash, failing to give information and driving with an expired license last week after his car allegedly damaged the fence of George Grimm, 2300 Washington Ave., and the driveway of Bill Radford, 2304 Washington.

Madison School Board sets levy for fiscal year

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

The Madison School Board raised the levy for the 1984-85 year by 28.8 percent last week.

After a public hearing, in which no comments were offered by the public, the board set the levy at $41,250, compared to the previous year's $497,842.

SUPERINTENDENT John Palchiff said the levy increase was made "due to uncertain conditions" affecting school finances, such as the Comstock plant's valuation.

"This will not hurt the tax rate. We've always had one of the lowest rates in the county. This is to protect us against any assessment changes we may have."

The total school tax rate that currently applies to real estate property in Madison District 12 is $2,788 per $100 assessed valuation; the maximum rate for the education fund is $1.60, which is the amount currently utilized, the superintendent of schools related.

THE INCREASE in the annual levy, he added, is in anticipation of a rise in the assessed valuation of property within the district. Property assessments will not be set in Madison County until next spring, after completion of hearings.

New levies of various governmental agencies will be applied to the overall tax base to determine rates for taxation to be conducted next spring or summer. Once new rates are known, they will be applied to individual families' or firms' assessments to set the amount of each property parcel's tax bill.

Rates will not rise above their legal maximums, but the higher levy can produce more revenue for the district if the valuation base grows, it was explained.

FAILURE TO APPROVE a levy increase now would have forfeited any potential property tax total gain for the district, since in that instance an expanded base would merely lower the school rate utilized.

Advance notices of the public hearing gave the correct levy totals but erroneously said the amount of the projected levy rise was 22 percent.

The Illinois Truth in Taxation Act requires a hearing whenever the levy is being boosted by more than five percent.

SUPT. PALCHIEFF told the Press-Record that no legal problem is expected, even though the actual increase is 28.8 percent.

If there is no increase—or only a small rise—in the district's assessment base, part of the levy will not be extended by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

In other business, the school board approved purchase of a cafeteria freezer. Of the three bids received, the board chose a proposal of $2,645 on a Glenco freezer. A lower priced freezer did not meet specifications, it was related.

THE BOARD VOTED to buy a paper cutter for the administrative offices. Palchiff said the cutter was offered to the school district at a discounted cost of $950; the district qualifies for the discount because the company is on a state contract specifying the price.

Supt. Palchiff said the Madison school administration is soliciting bids for demolition of the old Dunbar School Annex, which is located behind the Dunbar school building at W. 3rd and Jackson streets.

In July, the board authorized Palchiff to seek bids for the demolition, but in August the board delayed the project after deciding to apply for a housing grant to renovate Dunbar School and convert it into apartments.

THAT APPLICATION was not completed in time by the Madison County Housing Authority, for submission to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and possible inclusion among grants allocated this fall. It may be considered for next year.

A committee that studied the condition of the Dunbar annex concluded that the structure was a "disgrace" and should be razed, rather than being part of any future renovation plans.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

An antenuptial agreement is a contract between a man and a woman who are about to be married. This document is an agreement by one or both parties to give up all rights to the property of the other in the event of a subsequent divorce. What happens, however, if the marriage ends by death rather than divorce? Can an antenuptial agreement insulate property in this situation?

It is important to note that in the situation where there is no agreement, if one spouse dies without a will, the surviving spouse will receive one-half of the estate if there are children surviving and all of the estate if there are no children. Even if the deceased spouse leaves a will disinheriting the other spouse, the survivor can still renounce the will and take one-third of the estate.

Even if there is an antenuptial agreement and it does not specifically address itself to protecting property in the event of death, then the above principles will apply. What happens, however, if the future husband and wife attempt to give up inheritance rights in the agreement as well as rights if the marriage ends in divorce? This question was answered by a recent case.

In this situation, the man and woman signed an antenuptial agreement providing that each party's property was to be protected from the other whether the marriage ended by divorce or death. There was a full disclosure by both parties of all their respective assets, which is a requirement for an antenuptial agreement to be valid. Shortly after the marriage, the husband died without a will. The wife brought an action to interpret the agreement, arguing that an antenuptial agreement was only meant to protect property in the event of divorce and that she was guaranteed by law one-half of the husband's estate if he died without a will.

In this case, the Court held that if there is language sufficiently definite and certain in the agreement, inheritance rights can be waived by an antenuptial agreement. In addition, the Court held that such an agreement can cut off rights the survivor would otherwise have if the other spouse died without a will. The Court made it clear that if the antenuptial agreement had not been specifically directed to giving up inheritance rights, then the surviving spouse could have inherited property in this situation.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT. Lisa Jones of Granite City and her father, Robert, listen to Peter Buckner, president of the student chapter of the American Society of Personnel Administrators at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

wardsville, Buckner, a graduate student in personnel administration, was on hand to enumerate some of the organization's recent activities and awards during the recent Preview SIUE open house.

SIUE management center completes most active year

The Center for Management Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has completed the most active year of operations in its seven-year history, with revenues generated by the center growing from $11,896 in Fiscal Year (FY) 1978 to $401,982 in FY 1984.

In FY 1983, revenues from its programs amounted to $208,844, compared to $191,221 in FY 1982, $174,877 in FY 1981, $163,855 in FY 1980, and $93,008 in FY 1979.

THE CENTER provides various types of continuing education programs, applied research, and service to the larger community, with the major portion of its activities focusing on business.

During Fiscal Year 1984, nearly 2,000 participants were served in 91 different seminars and organizational in-house programs, most of which were conducted by members of the SIUE faculty.

The center is engaged in four major types of activities. The first type consists of long-term programs that are open to the general public and designed to provide in-depth preparation on a particular topic, such as the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) Review program and the Supervisory Management Program.

SHORT SEMINARS and workshops are another type of educational activity produced by the center. These are usually one, two or three days in length, are offered in a variety of locations and are designed to provide current knowledge and skills in a particular interest area.

A third type of activity is conducting in-house informational and training programs for specific organizations within the community.

James F. Miller Jr., director of the center, said the in-house programs conducted for business, industry and governmental organizations are the most successful. Developed in direct response to a company or organization request, these programs are tailored to meet the specific needs of the company as to topic, length, time and location.

OVER THE PAST four years, the center has conducted programs for over 30 different organizations throughout the greater St. Louis Metropolitan area. Seminars have also been offered in the Omaha and Kansas City areas.

Conducting applied research and special projects for organizations within the community is a fourth area of involvement by the center. Miller said his type of activity could range from providing bookkeeping techniques to small businesses to designing and implementing an extensive organizational development program aimed at increasing productivity for a major industry.

"Proving that Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is an institution of high quality that is responsive to the needs of the community is the underlying philosophy of the center. In keeping with this philosophy, we will constantly strive to improve all aspects of quality and remain sensitive to community needs," Miller said.

SIUE offers mini-courses in history

The department of historical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer several mini-courses during the winter quarter, according to Sam Grant, chairperson. Winter quarter begins Jan. 22, and registration is now underway.

Designed for students who would like to explore a specific historical topic in a brief but intense period of study, classes for the mini-courses will meet only once a week and carry two hours of academic credit.

MINI-COURSES to be offered this winter for academic credit include: Family History (HIST 300, Sec. 1) and Mafia: Italy and the U.S. (HIST 300, Sec. 2).

Family History classes will meet Mondays from 2:30 until 4:20 p.m. The purpose of the course is to give people the basics of the art and science of genealogy so they may trace their own family roots. Students enrolling in this course will learn the proper use of pedigree charts and family group sheets, how to record genealogical data, and locate and use such sources as birth, marriage, military and death records, old letters and journals.

Sessions for Mafia: Italy and the U.S. will meet Tuesdays from 2:30 until 4:20 p.m. Students will analyze the social and political conditions that produced the Mafia in Italy and trace its history in the U.S.

IN ADDITION, the SIUE department of historical studies will offer a non-credit course on Third World Development at the East St. Louis campus. The course, Can Development Succeed in the Third World?, will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:30 until 1:20 p.m.

Additional information concerning these courses may be obtained by contacting the SIUE department of historical studies at 1-692-2414. To register for the Third World Course, interested individuals should contact the East St. Louis campus at 271-3000, Ext. 74 or 271-3005 after 5 p.m.

Day-care services provided

The East St. Louis Child Development Program of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville continues to provide day-care services to area residents. Children are being sought to fill the program, according to Sheryl Tanner, social service coordinator.

There are spaces available for children ages 3 to 5 whose parents meet the program's guidelines, Mrs. Tanner said. The Child Development Program operates three day-care centers from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the East St. Louis Center of SIUE, 411 East Broadway; St. Paul Baptist Church, 1500 Bond Avenue and the John Deshields Center, 1235 McCasland.

GUIDELINES require that parents of children be either employed, participating in a job training program or attending an academic institution, Mrs. Tanner said.

She explained that the day-care centers provide a wide variety of activities that promote the physical, social, emotional and intellectual development of children. Breakfast, lunch and an afternoon snack are served daily.

There may or may not be a fee for the program, depending on the parents' income and size of family, Mrs. Tanner said.

FOR MORE information, interested persons may contact the SIUE-East St. Louis Campus Child Development Program at 1-271-3000, Extension 42, 43 or 44, or visit the East St. Louis Center, Room 3061.

Madison County Board approves budget, levy

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

With little comment and no objections last week, members of the Madison County Board approved a $41,436,438 budget for the county for Fiscal Year 1985, which begins Dec. 1.

The board also set its levy for the new year at $11,548,929. The ordinance states that the levy will be apportioned for the following purposes and departments: general county revenue, audit, detention home, elections, emergency service and disaster agency, Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, maps and plats, mental health, museum, nursing and shelter care homes, property records, supervisor of assessments, tax extension and collection, tuberculosis clinic, tort judgments and liability insurance, highway, bridge, matching tax, veteran's assistance, jail bonds and interest and Special Service Area No. 1 bonds and interest.

THE ordinance indicates that the levy for the Special Service Area No. 1 (a county sewer district) affects only residents of that sewer district. The newly adopted budget apportions $11,271,381 to the general fund, $28,121,727 to special revenue funds, $966,000 to debt service funds and $1,077,350 for the enterprise fund.

In presenting the budget to the board, finance committee member William Little of Alton noted that the budget is a "balanced budget," although the county's tax rate has yet to be established and the total amount of county revenues are not yet known.

LITTLE SAID the budget contains no cuts in services and he anticipates that "the level of operations will be maintained by the same or lower tax rate." But, a decline in the assessed valuation of county property would have an impact on tax operations, Little admitted.

Another comments, Little said the Session to focus on saving, investing

Dr. Thomas Frey, University of Illinois economist, will teach a local session on "Strategies for Saving and Investing" at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 20, at the Farm Bureau Auditorium located at 900 Hillsboro (Route 157) in Edwardsville. Dr. Frey will direct his comments toward the modest investor and will discuss computing net worth, establishing savings goals and investment alternatives.

This seminar is planned as a training meeting for 35 Homemakers Extension Association lay teachers, but anyone interested is encouraged to attend. The local leaders will repeat the information in a one-hour program for their Homemakers Extension Association units in January.

The class is sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service as part of its adult education program in Madison County.

finance committee has continued to support the expenditure of Revenue Sharing funds for major capital improvements in the county, and county officials intend to concentrate on new methods of monitoring revenues and expenditures.

Following approval of the budget ordinance, Little told the Press-Record that expenditures total slightly less than those contained in the current budget because the county has lost some federal monies.

AND, although Little said there would be no cutback in services, he admitted that the finance committee is re-evaluating the delinquent tax department to determine whether that department should merge with another department, be abolished or continue with additional funding.

The budget package also includes funds for county employee pay raises, although, Little said, the amount of the pay increases won't be established until employee negotiations are completed next year. This year, $573,012 was budgeted for personnel. The 1985 budget calls for personnel expenditures of $901,200.

In presenting the tax levy ordinance, Madison County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields told the board that the levy has dropped $95,000. He said that if the assessed valuation of property in the county increases or stays the same, the tax rate will decrease.

THE FY 1985 budget earmarks $15,778,035 for special revenue tax levy funds; $6,941,316 for other special revenue funds and $5,502,376 for other grants, including community development and Job Training and Partnership Act (JTPA) for employment and training.

The general revenue fund would finance the county revenue departments with the following appropriations:

County board, $285,000; Board of Review, $105,850; buildings and lands, $420,000; central services, $91,839; circuit court, $485,903; data processing, $500,518; delinquent tax, $20,440; environmental control, $124,880; jury commission, $35,752; liquor commission, $2,933; personnel, $901,300.

POLICE merit board, $4,800; probation, $364,324; Probation-Public Act 83, $388,305; public defender, $193,168; criminal justice, $18,000; Madison County Extension, $12,400; Madison County Soil and Water, $8,000; Madison County Tourism, $2,476; "208" Water Quality, $11,480; vehicle maintenance, $56,000.

Zoning and building, $171,860; zoning and building (license), $21,764; zoning and building (legal publication), $6,000; auditor, $160,402; circuit clerk, $926,581; coroner, $94,550; county clerk, $200,000; education, $208,041; recorder, $246,591; sheriff and jail, $3,169,618.

THE FEDERAL revenue sharing departments within the county's general fund are to receive a total of $1,074,558. Those departments are buildings and land, environmental control, circuit court, data processing, nursing home, shelter care home, vehicle maintenance, zoning and building, auditor, circuit clerk, county clerk, education, recorder, sheriff, sheriff deputies, treasurer, animal control, detention home and museum.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT HERE
Charles W. Milam, 39, Edwardsville, a motorcyclist, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center this month after his north-bound cycle went off the right side of Missouri Avenue near the city humane shelter and came to a halt 273 feet north of there in a ditch. He was charged with failing to secure a new registration. Before you replace your existing heating system, check out an electric heat pump

If you are considering replacing your existing heating system, consider this: an electric heat pump is over 150% energy efficient and provides both heating and air conditioning.

An electric heat pump delivers substantially more energy efficiency than even the most advanced pulse type gas furnaces.

In cold weather the heat pump gathers natural warmth from outdoor air, concentrates it and circulates it throughout your home. During the summer, the heat pumps acts like a central air conditioning system to cool the entire house.

An energy efficient electric heat pump will keep on providing savings on your utility bill, month after month, year in and year out.

Alpha Eta welcomes state visitor

Mrs. M. Josephine O'Neill, Illinois State past president, was welcomed at the November meeting of Alpha Eta Chapter, The Delta Kappa Games Society International, an honorary society of women educators. The luncheon meeting was held at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue.

The noon luncheon meeting was preceded by an Open Board Meeting, with all committee chairmen for the 1984-85 Biennial reporting to Mrs. O'Neill.

Prior to the luncheon, members shopped a "country fair" of books, homemade foods, and handmade items sponsored by the Projects Committee. Members also received the chapter newsletter, The Alphabetgram, from the communications committee. "Love Kits" were presented to all, from the Professional Affairs Committee, along with a questionnaire from Project Share, the society's speaker's bureau.

After the luncheon, music on the program theme was led by Mrs. Patricia Penellon and accompanied by Miss Carolyn Beckett. Mrs. Dolores Folkerts, program committee chairman, introduced the speaker, Dr. Rob Glossop.

Dr. Glossop, Professor of Philosophy and chairman of the Peace Studies Program at SIUE, spoke on the "Concept of World Citizenship." During his talk he stressed the need to transcend national loyalty to the higher level of loyalty to the human race.

Following Dr. Glossop's talk, the business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Elizabeth Briggs, chapter president. Mrs. Briggs then introduced Mrs. O'Neill, state visitor, who brought greetings from the state organization and remarked on the earlier Board Meeting. The chapter made a monetary contribution to the Arts Scholarship in Mrs. O'Neill's name. The scholarship was established during her term of office, and because of her inspiration and support of the Arts in Illinois the scholarship was named the M. Josephine O'Neill Award. Mrs. Briggs explained the "Good Health Minute."

Eggnog — a festive comfort for the holidays

Which holiday drink fits both the festive season and the pocketbook?

"The host or hostess at home as well as those in well-known restaurants may attempt to prepare something different — but the perennial favorite at Christmas is eggnog," explains Jenifer Harvey Lang, who has worked as the first woman chef at New York's famous "21" Club Restaurant and authors the "Resolute Shopper" column for the Washington Post.

Of the many ways to prepare eggnog, Lang prefers a special made-from-scratch recipe which calls for Southern Comfort, an authentic American spirit created around the turn of the century in New Orleans.

Lang opposes the common misgivings that eggnog is either expensive or complicated to make. And she explains why eggnog may be the answer to those looking for an economical holiday refreshment.

Eggnog eliminates the expense of stocking a bar. Eggnog and a fruit-based punch make a complete and festive party fare, and the savings are considerable when compared to the cost of stocking a bar.

It's a time-saver, taking just a few minutes to prepare.

Eggnog is a drink and dessert in one. The one-of-a-kind taste of Southern Comfort and made-from-scratch ingredients combine for a smooth, creamy recipe that's incomparable.

There are no leftovers to worry about with eggnog. Transform any unused portion into a sumptuous eggnog pie. The following recipe shows how. In fact, Lang advises that you may just want to make sure you'll have some extra to transform into this easy and elegant dessert.

HOMEMADE COMFORT EGGNOG

- 6 eggs, separated
- 3/4 cup superfine granulated sugar*
- 2 cups heavy whipping cream, whipped
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups Southern Comfort
- Nutmeg to taste

In a punch bowl with an electric hand mixer, beat the egg yolks until they are thick and fluffy and lighter in color; gradually add sugar and mix until it is completely dissolved. Add to the yolk mixture the whipped cream, cream and milk, stirring well. Add, still stirring, the Southern Comfort. Chill this mixture until ready to serve.

Just before serving, beat the egg whites to the consistency of shaving cream and stir thoroughly into the eggnog in the punch bowl. Dust with nutmeg to taste, freshly-grated if possible.

Makes about 2 quarts, which is 10 servings at about 5 ounces each. Double or triple the recipe to accommodate your holiday crowd.

NOTE: You can use ordinary granulated sugar, if you don't have the superfine.

COMFORT EGGNOG PIE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 3 cups eggnog (from Southern Comfort Eggnog recipe)
- 1 prepared 9" graham cracker pie crust
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream, whipped
- Chocolate shavings (made by scraping the side of a bar of cooking chocolate with a vegetable peeler)

Sprinkle the gelatin over 1/4 cup of water in a small saucepan; let gelatin soften for five minutes. Put the saucepan over the lowest heat and cook without stirring until gelatin has melted and mixture is clear. Cool for five minutes.

Stir together thoroughly the softened gelatin and eggnog. Pour into the pie crust. Cover with plastic wrap and chill for at least two hours, or overnight, if possible.

Spread whipped cream over the top of the pie and sprinkle with chocolate shavings.

Happy Hanukkah

As the celebration of a miraculous victory, Hanukkah is one of the happiest of all Jewish holidays.

This special holiday celebrates a victory over the Syrians by a small Jewish band of rebels.

Judas Maccabaeus and his Maccabees defeated the army of Antiochus IV and reclaimed their Temple which had been overtaken and desecrated by the Syrians.

As the Jews began to repair their Temple and rekindle the holy lights, they found that they only had enough oil for one day.

The time needed for the Temple's restoration was eight days.

The Jews went ahead and lit the lamps anyway as they had no other choice, and this is when the miracle occurred — the oil in the lamps burned for the entire eight days!

This began the traditional celebration of Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights.

Over the years, Hanukkah has been honored with many joyous customs, such as lighting the menorah, giving gifts to one another, sharing special foods, singing songs and generally spending this happy occasion together.

One of the most delightful Jewish customs at this time is spinning the dreidel. The ancient dreidel is a four-sided top on which each side is written a Hebrew letter: nun, gimmel, hay and shin.

Each letter has a specific meaning. Nun means nothing, gimmel means all, hay means half, and shin means put. The meanings can vary according to the particular game being played.

Players spin the dreidel and proceed according to which side the dreidel lands on. Usually, a pile of "winnings" is being played for and the players each try for the biggest share of the winnings.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David) To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another. Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Luke 2:1-20

Glastonbury Thorn Is Legendary

Each Christmas, the small tree or shrub we know as the Glastonbury thorn produces small clusters of white flowers. Except for the spring season, Christmastime is the only time of the year that these flowers bloom.

There is an ancient legend to explain this interesting circumstance. The legend says that when Joseph of Arimathea ended a long pilgrimage in England, he drove his walking stick into the soil of Glastonbury. The staff budded and bore lovely white blossoms, and thereafter bloomed again each year at Christmas.

Because of this belief, the thorns came to be regarded as holy and pilgrimages were made at Christmastime in olden days to touch the thorns, as it was believed that they could heal the mind and body and purify evil.

Although modern-day celebrants no longer attribute any special powers to this unusual Hawthorn, the Glastonbury thorn still holds appeal for those who know its legend at Christmastime.

The Magi

Through the centuries, the wise men or Magi became associated with the giving of gifts to children. In some countries today, it is on Three Kings Day — January 6 — when gifts are distributed, rather than at Christmas itself.

The story of these colorfully garbed potentates following a star to the birthplace of the Infant Jesus to bestow him with gifts is one which captures the imagination and which has been described in song, paintings and even opera.

And, although we know little about the three mysterious travelers, we know that they must have indeed been wise — for wise men seek Him still.

Festivities celebrate the beauty and sparkle of this special holiday season

There is something so special about Christmas that, no matter how the rest of the year may have gone, when Christmas rolls around, there is a renewed spirit of hope and good faith.

This feeling can be compared to a fresh snow fall that covers the ground — beauty renewed which, even if it is only temporary, is meant to be enjoyed by all.

Christmas seems to best symbolize this fresh beginning. It represents and brings forth the strongest feelings of family unity and an almost universal appeal for brotherhood.

There is a beauty to the spirit of Christmas that goes far beyond the bright, blinking lights and wonderful and different ornaments which adorn the trees. The beauty lies in the inner peace and sense of unity that we all feel towards each other this special time of year.

Christmas is much more than parties, or a few days off from the office. It is a time when people of diverse opinions and beliefs can get together and share ideas and friendships, not bound to any particular ideal.

Beauty of the season

The Christmas season is beautiful because of the lights and the decorations, not to mention the brightly wrapped packages underneath the tree. Christmas really does represent the time when we all realize again that it is truly better to give than it is to receive.

With the stockings hung from the fireplace, and the candy canes dripping like icicles from the trees, Christmas is a time of wonderment, not just for the young, but for anyone who finds their youth at Christmas.

Home is where the heart is

No matter where you live, enjoying a white Christmas in the east or midwest, or at least a spell of cooler weather in the south and in the west, Christmas brings a special longing for home and family that is virtually unmatched at any other time of the year.

While it is easy to get caught in the sentiment of Christmas past, it is with enthusiasm that we look forward to this Christmas of 1984.

It seems now that all of the commercial hoopla for Christmas begins the day after Thanksgiving and doesn't really subside until the last of those Christmas returns are made, at the start of 1985.

In most households, especially those with young children, the excitement of Christmas builds to a great crescendo, peaking Christmas morning at the crack of dawn, when everyone races down the stairs to awaiting packages and overflowing stockings.

It is exactly that excitement and joy that is truly the signature of Christmas and all that it brings to everyone.

Christmas is the time of the year that is meant most to be enjoyed. The songs, laughter and, most of all, the good cheer is something which is meant to be passed on from generation to generation.

More important than the gifts we exchange at Christmas are the cherished traditions, rich in family heritage, that are renewed each year.

Maintain ideals all year

For, as much as Christmas is part of our lives, it is the ideals of Christmas which should be observed all through the year.

Christmas is a time that we should look forward to, because it is a time that brings us together, and lets us appreciate who we are and where we are from, and allows us to remember everything that is really important to us.

Holiday magic is revived through the eyes of a child

HOMEMADE ORNAMENTS make a perfect gift.

Remember the magic the holidays held when you were growing up? The crinkle of wrapping paper, the twinkling lights, the whispered secrets and surprises, the nose-tickling scents from the kitchen — all helped to build up the anticipation.

Revive that special magic by sharing the holiday preparations with a child. You'll find the youthful enthusiasm contagious! Here's an idea for a holiday activity anyone will enjoy:

- Make your own holiday ornaments, like the ones shown here, using Play Clay, an inexpensive, easy-to-make clay. Here's how:

BASIC PLAY CLAY RECIPE

- 2 cups ARM & HAMMER Pure Baking Soda (one 1-lb. package)
- 1 cup cornstarch
- 1 1/4 cups cold water

(1) Mix together baking soda and cornstarch in a saucepan. Add water and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly. When mixture is the consistency of moist mashed potatoes, turn out on a plate and cover with a damp cloth.

(2) When Play Clay is cool enough to handle, knead it like dough until it's smooth. This makes about 2 cups of Play Clay. (You can store any unused portions in a tightly sealed plastic bag in the refrigerator.)

To make shaped ornaments:

(Block, Teddy bear, jack-in-the-box, doll, rocking horse, soldier, and horn)

- Roll out the Play Clay, between two sheets of waxed paper, to about 1/4 to 1/2-inch thickness.

- Use a small sharp knife to cut out the basic shape. If you need help, trace the ornaments in the photo or trace shapes from a children's book onto tracing paper to use as a guide.

Place the traced pattern on the clay and, using a pin or needle, poke holes along the outline and details. Remove paper and cut out the shape.

- Three-dimensional details like the Teddy bear's cheeks and nose, the letter on the block, and the doll's bow are cut separately. To attach them to the basic shape or join other pieces of clay, moisten one piece with water and gently press together.

- Insert a piece of paper clip or wire into the clay at the top of each ornament for hanging.

- Add any details — mouth, eyes, fingers, hair — with a toothpick, sharpened pencil, or orange stick. Children will enjoy working with different tools such as a toothbrush or garlic press to create interesting surfaces.

To make cookie cutter ornaments (like the star):

- Use cookie cutters to cut out shapes from the rolled out Play Clay. Poke a hole for hanging at the top of the ornaments with a pencil point or toothpick.

To dry:

- Place the Play Clay ornaments on a plate, cookie sheet or other flat surface to dry overnight. Thick designs may need more time.

To shorten the drying time, heat shapes in a 350°F, preheated oven for approximately 15 minutes. If they are not hard enough, continue to heat, five minutes at a time. If any design details become loose, they can be glued on with craft glue after drying is complete.

To paint and finish:

- When dry, paint with acrylic paints, poster paints, water colors or felt-tip pens.

- Apply a coat of polyurethane, varnish or clear nail polish to protect your designs for years to come.

Sharing the holidays with a child just might make this the best holiday ever. And who knows? You might even rediscover the child in yourself!

Snoopy's workout rouses audiences nationwide

Feeling run down, out-of-shape and just plain flabby? "Snoopy's Workout and Dance Party" is sure to help. The new exercise show, currently touring the country, has audiences up on their feet as they dance along with Snoopy as Flashbeagle, decked out in a fashionably "torn" sweatshirt, designer headband and leg warmers.

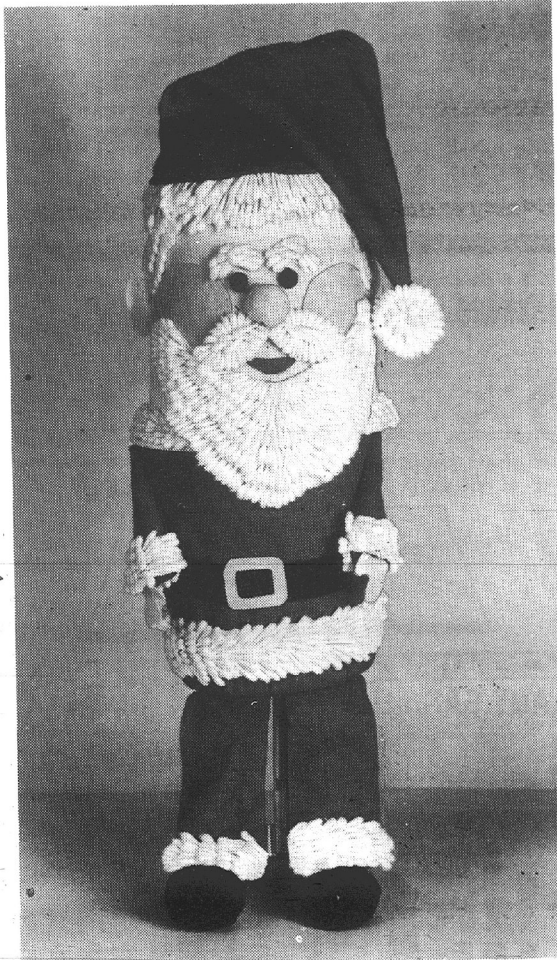

The show itself is a multi-faceted program geared for total audience participation. It includes exercising, dancing, a skilled athletic director and lots of original music. Playing at shopping malls, Snoopy's show helps teach the proper techniques for stretching and bending, and highlights the boogeying beagle's own agility with his breakdancing demonstration, complete with instructions.

A special guest, the laid-back Joe

Cool, helps teach some of the less strenuous exercises. In contrast, the energetic Flashbeagle really lets it all hang out, moving and dancing and swinging with the original music that includes a personalized version of Simon Says called "Snoopy Says."

The strutting Snoopy was first introduced last spring in "It's a Flashbeagle, Charlie Brown," the half-hour special which aired on the CBS Television Network and was number one in its time slot. The program, which earned an Emmy nomination, featured Snoopy flashdancing, Pig Pen breakdancing and Peppermint Patty aerobic dancing. The Flashbeagle album, released by Buena Vista Records, also came out last spring. The hit record has already sold over 180,000 copies. †

Man of the hour

WHO DOESN'T LIKE SANTA CLAUS? Designer Lee Lindeman created this version with red felt and some Q-tips cotton swabs. Using gallon-size paper paint buckets as a base, she circled them with red felt, glued it in place, then cut strips of felt for the legs. Hat is a long triangle of red felt. Pom-pom is made of Q-tips swabs. Tips of swabs were glued in place to make the beard and eyebrows. "Ermine" trim on Santa's suit is also made of cotton swab tips. When not being photographed, this Santa decorates a holiday buffet table, sits beside the fireplace or sets a festive note in the foyer. †

Christmas company coffee: Easy, elegant and festive

When you invite people to "come over for coffee" during the holiday season, it's elegant — and easy — to make the occasion festive.

All you have to do is serve fancy coffee in addition to your regular delicious brew, add a pretty cake or cookies, and decorate the table with some Christmas greenery.

For example, you might entertain a few neighbors after the Christmas concert with glamorous coconut-flavored Cafe Au Laitco topped with globs of whipped cream.

The night before, put together the sweetened milk and coconut mixture, and refrigerate.

When you walk in with your guests, you'll just have to strain the milk mixture, heat, and stir into the cafe of hot, fresh-brewed coffee.

Pour into attractive eight-ounce mugs, top with whipped cream and a sprinkle of toasted coconut, and enjoy the raves from your friends.

Unexpected guests tend to drop in throughout the season, so be prepared. Put together a tray of cinnamon sticks, whole cloves, sliced lemons and oranges, peppermint sticks, nutmeg, fruit and cream liqueurs and cordials. Everybody can then enjoy creating original flavor combinations.

CAFE AU LAITCO

Stir together and refrigerate overnight:

- 4 cups scalded milk
- 2 cups shredded coconut
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla or rum extract

In your Norelco coffee maker brew:

- 6 cups dark coffee

Strain milk mixture to remove coconut. Reheat flavored milk in a double boiler or glass bowl in a microwave until it reaches 185°F.

Pour milk mixture into coffee carafe and gently stir using a wooden spoon.

Pour coffee into mugs and top with whipped cream. Sprinkle toasted coconut on top.

Makes eight 8-oz. mugs.

ZIPPY TOMATO-CHEESE DUNK

- 1 can (10½ ounces) Campbell's Condensed Tomato Soup
- 1½ cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- Italian or French bread cubes

1. In 1½-quart saucepan over medium heat, combine soup and cheese. Heat until cheese melts, stirring occasionally.

2. Pour into 1-quart candle-warmer dish to keep warm while serving. Spear bread with fork or toothpick; dip bread into dip. Makes 2 cups dip.

CURRIED CHEESE DIP

- 3 tablespoons finely chopped sweet pickle
- 2 teaspoons curry powder

2. Stir in olives, pickle and curry powder.

HOW TO CARVE THE TURKEY

Let the turkey rest on a wooden carving board for about 20 minutes before carving. Meanwhile, remove the stuffing. Steady the turkey with your carving fork and pull the leg away from the body.

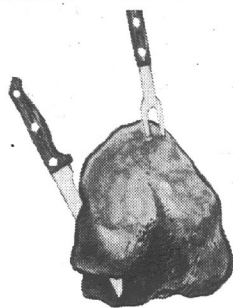

Maneuver the tip of the boning knife into the socket and cut off the leg.

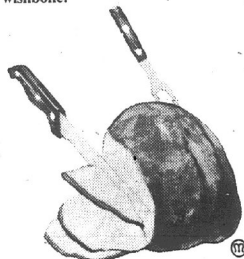

Separate the drumstick from the thigh by slicing through the joint. Carve the meat from each piece, if desired.

Now locate the wing joint with the tip of your knife. Slice through the skin until you hit bone. Pull the wing down and cut it off at the joint. Separate the wing portions at the joint.

You'll need your carving knife to carve the breast. Make an incision across the body from wishbone to wishbone.

Use long, smooth strokes rather than a sawing motion. Steady the bird with your fork and start slicing above the leg socket. Begin to carve thin, even slices down to the incision. Start each new slice a little higher, continuing until you reach the breastbone. The angle of your knife will change slightly until you are slicing almost parallel to the breastbone.

This holiday season is the wrong time for dieting; instead emphasize maintenance

IT'S NO FUN TO DIET over the holidays. Focus on maintaining, not losing weight, and add "pacing" foods such as soup and fresh fruit to your diet. They'll slow you down — and you'll eat less!

"Eat, drink and be merry" — but don't try to lose weight during the holidays.

"Trying to diet over the most intense period of entertaining sets us up for failure. It's much more important to enjoy ourselves and just try to maintain our weight. We can resume those weight-loss diets — with greater success — after the holidays."

That's the advice of Dr. Judith Stern, a professor of nutrition at the University of California-Davis and consultant to Campbell's Soups.

According to Dr. Stern, one of the keys to maintaining weight levels during the holidays is avoiding temptation. "If I serve a holiday dinner at home, I make the most tempting foods last. If I decide to bake something for dessert, instead of making something like brownies that I can nibble on, I make a pie:

"Everyone will know if you sneak a piece of pie — but you could eat several brownies or cookies and no one would know the difference!"

Dr. Stern tries to be good to her guests, too. "Guests appreciate not being stuffed before a meal. Hors d'oeuvres should be light — dips and vegetables are fine. Besides, when guests overeat before the meal, they can't enjoy the good food you've really worked hard to prepare."

Dr. Stern believes it is important to pace your guests' meal — don't rush them. "Nothing is worse than beginning to clear the table before everyone is finished. Once you've served your guests, sit down and relax with them."

"I like serving something that requires time to eat — like a bowl of hot soup or an artichoke — because it helps set a leisurely pace for the meal."

In fact, Dr. Stern notes it is wise to incorporate these "pace-setting" foods into our diets year 'round. "These foods not only slow down our eating speeds, but they can help us to eat less food and calories overall," she says.

Dr. Stern cites a U.S. government survey which examined 28,000 people's three-day dietary records and compared calorie consumption on the days they ate soup with the days they did not.

"Soup was 55 percent more likely to be a part of the diet on the day an individual consumed the lowest number of calories. On the high-calorie days, people were more likely to have consumed foods like casseroles, french fries and pie."

Another way holiday hosts can show consideration for their guests is to allow them to serve themselves. That way they can regulate how much they want to eat.

"Also, don't push seconds on your friends! If a guest wants more of any certain food, let him know that you'd love him to have it and that there is plenty left."

"But don't be like the stereotypical 'mother,' heaping guests' plates with seconds and thirds and then looking hurt if they say that they are full," Dr. Stern says.

To avoid temptation and earn the reputation of being a great hostess, pack up leftovers from holiday meals and send them home with guests.

"Another trick I use is sealing the leftovers in single portions and freezing them. That way they're not in the refrigerator to tempt me," Dr. Stern says.

"Of course, the easiest way to avoid the temptation of leftovers is to go to someone else's home for your holiday meals," Dr. Stern adds.

And what about presents of food from well-meaning friends and coworkers?

"If you work, don't bring it home," Dr. Stern warns. "Share it with everyone at the office. Taste the gift, of course, but don't eat it all yourself."

"If a friend or neighbor stops by with holiday goodies, freeze them until you feel your weight is 'right' or for use when you host an impromptu gathering at your home," Dr. Stern says.

If you want to give a gift of candy to a friend, she suggests that you be moderate. "I'm a chocoholic and I enjoy getting a small box of very fine chocolates — four pieces is really plenty — or better still, some beautiful fruit," Dr. Stern says.

"Gifts like these will be even more appreciated because almost everyone is concerned about gaining weight over the holiday season."

"My husband and I have stopped serving heavy cakes and pastries for dessert when we entertain," Dr. Stern says. "Instead, we buy fresh fruit — which is really a treat during the holidays — and serve it alone or with yogurt."

"Sometimes I melt semi-sweet chocolate and partially dip a few pieces of pineapple and strawberry in it for a garnish to my fruit platter. It's really in how you present it, and fruit can be a spectacular and nutritious end to any meal."

So, enjoy yourself during the holidays this year. Focus on maintaining your current weight and be proud of yourself if you don't gain extra pounds. You'll be in a much better frame of mind if your New Year's resolution is to lose weight!

Creative sausage tree will set the holiday mood.

For centuries, a green leafy tree has set the mood for holiday decorating. The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council suggests complementing your buffet table with an hors d'oeuvres tree decorated with sausage, vegetable and fruit tidbits.

A sausage tree is fun to make and an unusual focal point for a festive buffet table. The wide selection of sausage products available give you a variety of color and textures in addition to great eating. Add to the creativity of your tree by making salami cornucopias, bologna rolls and olive wraps. And, be sure to include a package or two of small cocktail sausages on your shopping list. Create a new side dish appetizer by stuffing deli-size dill pickles with liver sausage or braunschweiger.

To form the tree, select a styrofoam cone — large or small, depending on the number of guests. Secure endive, escarole or parsley to the cone with fine hairpins. Work from the bottom up, tucking stems behind the leaves below. If using parsley, try to find bushy bunches with short stems.

After the tree is completely covered, spray with a fine mist of water and store in a plastic bag in your refrigerator. Decorations may be made ahead of time — complete with toothpicks — covered with plastic wrap and refrigerated. A short time before guests arrive, simply skewer decorations onto the tree and, voilà, a holiday hors d'oeuvres tree. (You may wish to keep a small tray of extras refrigerated to replenish the tree — the goodies disappear fast!)

Salami Cornucopias

- 12 slices salami, cut in half
- 1 3-oz. package cream cheese and chives (whipped)

Place a mound of whipped cream cheese in the center near the rounded edge of each half-slice. Roll up in cornucopia style and attach to tree with toothpick. Yield: 24.

Bologna Rolls

- 12 large slices of bologna
- 1 3-oz. package cream cheese
- 1 tsp. chopped or minced onions
- 2 tsp. horseradish sauce
- ½ tsp. dry mustard

Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. With electric mixer, blend onions, horseradish and mustard with cream cheese until mixture is light and fluffy. Spread 3 slices of bologna with a thin layer of mixture and stack one on top of the other. Roll up, cut into slices, and attach to tree with toothpicks. Yield: 24-30.

Olive Wraps

Cut slices of your favorite luncheon meats in half and wrap, cornucopia style around small stuffed olives. Double under protruding end, pierce with toothpick and secure to your tree.

Add extra decorations of cocktail franks, radishes, ripe olives, cocktail onions, and small cubes of cheese, ham, or canned processed meats. You may also garnish the tree with pineapple chunks, small clusters of grapes and cherry tomatoes.

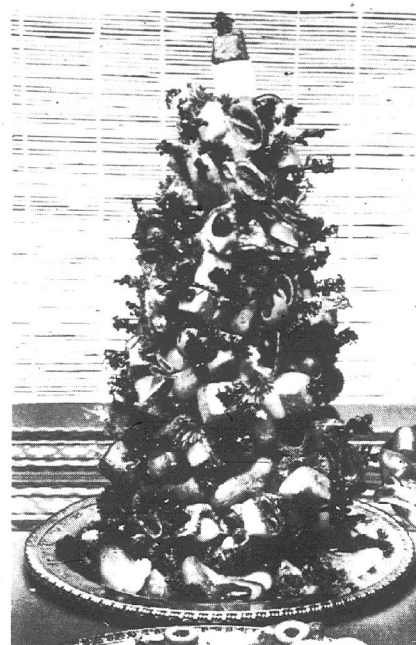

Stuffed Dill Pickles

Tangy, stuffed dill pickle slices make a perfect complement to a festive sausage tree.

- 2 large dill pickles
- ¼ lb. Braunschweiger (smoked)
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1 tsp. minced onion
- 1 tsp. minced parsley

Cut off ends of dill pickles and cut in half crosswise. Remove centers with a large apple or zucchini corer. Reserve centers. Melt butter; sauté onion and parsley until onion is soft. Add smoked braunschweiger; continue cooking for 2 minutes until thoroughly warmed and well blended. Cool.

Add chopped centers. Stuff pickles with mixture, seal in plastic wrap; refrigerate. Before serving, slice in ½-inch pieces; arrange on platter. †

Reindeer and angels—two long-time favorites

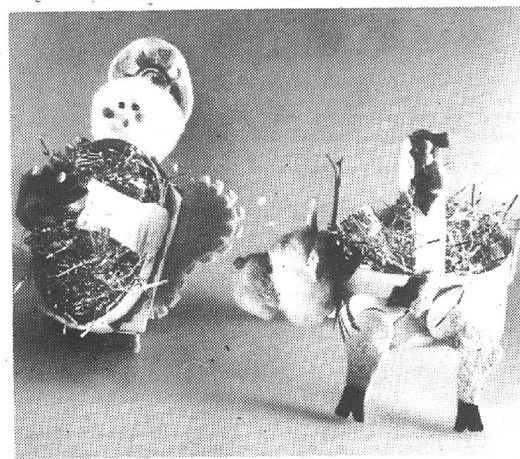

Reindeer and angels have been traditional parts of Christmas for centuries. The origin of angels is well-known, dating back to the birth of Christ. How the reindeer got into the holidays is not clear, but they are a delightful element in decorations and Christmas cards alike.

Here both decorate small baskets to be used for tree ornaments or to be filled with candies for table decorations. Start with 2½ or 3-inch baskets.

To make the angel, cut two wing-like pieces of felt in different colors and glue to bottom of basket. Pink felt arms are glued up the sides and over the handle. A large canary pom is topped with a smaller pink one and backed with a golden felt halo and then attached to one end of the basket.

The head of the reindeer is made of two sized beige poms attached to each other with Elmer's Tacky Adhesive and to the end of the basket.

Small red poms and black beads are used for features of both reindeer and angel. Felt ears and legs and black poster board antlers and feet complete the reindeer. Hang him or let him sit on the table with legs flopped out.

Enjoy some festive foods for party moods

There's ample time for meetings under the mistletoe and other holiday cheer when tasty hors d'oeuvres are prepared in advance, frozen, and thawed or heated the day of the party. With that in mind, here are some delicious recipes to give party planners a few ideas before the holidays hit.

Mushrooms Stuffed with Sausage

- 1 pound sausage
- 1 pound mushrooms, medium size
- 1. Clean mushrooms and remove stems. Blanch for 5 minutes. Cool.
- 2. Stuff each mushroom cap with rounded teaspoon of sausage. Freeze on a tray. When frozen, package in bags.

To serve: Bake frozen at 425° on cookie sheet for 20 minutes (see microwave cookbook for heating instructions). Yields 20-24 appetizers.

Salmon Cheese Ball

One 7- $\frac{3}{4}$ ounce can Alaska salmon
One $\frac{1}{4}$ ounce package cream cheese, softened

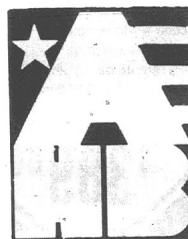

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped black olives
- 2 tablespoons instant minced onions
- Dash of hot pepper sauce
- $\frac{1}{2}$ finely chopped pecans
- 1. Drain and flake salmon. Combine with all ingredients except pecans.
- 2. Chill until firm. Shape into a ball, roll in pecans.
- 3. Wrap, label and freeze.

To serve: Thaw in refrigerator 6 hours before using. Serve with assorted crackers or fresh vegetables.

"Freezin' Art," a 56-page comprehensive freezing guide including a blanching chart for vegetables, freezing techniques for various types of fruits, packaging hints, and other valuable freezer storage advice, is available for $5.00 postage paid from Admiral Home Appliances, 1701 East Woodfield Road, Schaumburg, Illinois 60195.

May the joys of the season dwell in each and every heart.

Glitter and glow in holiday jewelry

RICH HOLIDAY GLOW is seen in this handsome pearl trio that features large baroque pearls set in gold on necklace, earrings and bracelet, reports the Jewelry Industry Council.

Color, sparkle and shine are everywhere during the festive holiday season — in brightly wrapped gifts, shiny Christmas tree ornaments, and in handsome holiday apparel.

New fashion jewelry accentuates the yuletide's color and excitement with bright colors in enamel, bead and stone jewelry, and in glowing gold and pearl necklaces, earrings and bracelets, observes the Jewelry Industry Council.

There's a bold use of rhinestone pave in accents on pendants and in pins, in centerpieces on necklaces, and where pearls and stones on earrings are outlined with rhinestones.

There's a brand new look to pearls, as designers use large baroque pearls for earrings and in necklace centerpieces, setting them in gold.

Clasps on new necklaces are jewel-accented, and many of the pearl necklaces feature one large pearl in the necklace center, with the clasp incorporated in the design.

Other holiday jewelry includes pieces which feature onyx and pearl, or black enamel and pearl in a continuation of the black and white trend in jewelry.

Necklaces ride high on the neck, effecting bold designs matched to oversize earrings, and red bead and enamel designs are seen with black to effect a dramatic color accent.

Bracelets are important in the season ahead, as the ensemble look of earrings, necklace and bracelet grows in popularity, says the Council. †

HOLIDAY CRAFT IDEA:

Making your own pine cone wreath

MATERIALS

- Two 16 or 18 inch wire wreath frames.
- 50 long, slender (white) pine cones to form base, and approximately 100 regular (yellow) pine cones.
- Chestnuts, burrs, tiny pine cones, twisted off rosettes of spruce cones, artificial fruit for filling in and/or accent.
- Wire for tying wreaths together and for hanging.
- Thermogrip® glue gun and glue sticks.
- 1½ yards of wide velvet ribbon for bow (optional).
- Clear acrylic spray (lacquer).

PROCEDURE

1. Soak about 50 long, slender pine cones (the type that can be easily found in wooded areas during the fall) in water until they close.
2. Once closed, insert them like wheel spokes, alternating direction, through the wire spaces in one wreath frame.
3. Attach the two largest wires of the two frames together, back to back. If they match well, glue the wires together. If not, wire them.
4. Glue shorter, thicker pine cones (found in abundance in wooded areas during fall months) in three circular rows to the pairs of wires in the empty top frame.
5. Attach artificial fruit, if desired, leaving space for a ribbon bow. Fill in empty spaces with anything available—chestnuts, burrs, tiny cones and twisted off rosettes of spruce cones.
6. Attach a loop of wire or heavy cord for hanging and spray with several coats of clear lacquer to enhance color and preserve.
7. If you have any difficulty tying a satisfactory velvet bow, use the glue gun to spot-glue the loops of the bow. Then, wire in place.
